AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 8th April, 1982 in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act. The Court received the notification of dispute from the Minister with the relevant statutory certificate on 13th April, 1982.

This dispute which has been forwarded to the Court by the Minister for Labour himself by virtue of powers vested in him under section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act concerns two captains who are fairly senior in their respective fleets and are also at the same time key trade union officials being chairman and general secretary of the Claimants.

There is no dispute that the real problem which led to the alleged victimization started when a statement made by six trade union officials all representing the three trade unions who have dealings with the Respondents appeared in the Kenya Sunday newspapers—the Sunday Nation and the Sunday Standard—on 28th February, 1982 under the headings of "Kenya Airways faces union work-to-rule", and "Unions condemn mismanagement at Kenya Airways". These statements were serious attacks on the top management of the Respondents who demanded an unreserved apology from the two captains or to face dismissal, according to the Claimants.

The apology was not forthcoming and as result of a major deployment exercise mainly in the managerial cadres which had been going on since October, 1981 the two captains were transferred from their flying duties to those of district sales representatives at Khartoum and Mogadishu. This was contained in Staff Notice No. 4/82 dated 9th March, 1982.

The two captains did not accept the transfers and a trade dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour on the issue as stated hereinabove. The Minister appointed a conciliator but the parties could not resolve the matter during conciliation.

To begin with the Court will set out the sequence of events and the points on which there is no dispute.

The new managing director of the Respondents, Mr. R. S. Nyaga, took over his job in an acting capacity last year in May and was confirmed in this post in February this year with effect from 1st May, 1981. It so happened that a few top managers resigned at the time with the result that Mr. Nyaga had to do the work of six top persons and was thus heavily committed in reorganizing and the running of the airline.

The Claimants had raised some disputes with the Respondents on the question of a collective agreement i.e. refusal by the Respondents to sign an already negotiated agreement, failure by the Respondents to pay 19 flight deck crew their appropriate salaries and allowances after having qualified on various positions and income tax assessments on allowances which the Claimants' members had been given to understand were tax free. Mr. Nyaga inherited these disputes and the Claimants had reported formal trade disputes to the Minister for Labour on the first two issues on 28th August and 15th September, 1981.

Notwithstanding the reported trade disputes the Claimants sought a meeting with the new managing director soon after he assumed office but were not successful in meeting him until 18th December, 1981. The Court was given a copy of those minutes which is the Respondents' version of what took place at this meeting as the Claimants maintained that the minutes were not correct. The important point about this meeting is that it is alleged that during the course of discussions the managing director issued a threat to the Claimants as a trade union in that he told their members who were present at the meeting that he had been appointed as the managing director by the Government and he had been directed by the Government that if he had any problems from the trade unions he would be in a position to cause them to be deregistered. He is further alleged to have said that if need be all the Claimants' members could leave and the airline would still function. He further said that he had no time for trade union activities. All the Claimants' witnesses who were present at the meeting confirmed that the managing director uttered these words but Mr. Nyaga while giving evidence denied having made any such threat.

The pilots and the flight crew in the meantime were facing a pressing problem of income tax assessments which was contributing to their low morale and was an explosive issue. The Income Tax Department was claiming arrears for the last four years and some of the persons affected were required to pay them before 26th February and 31st March, 1982.

On 28th February, 1982 the aforementioned press release appeared in the papers and on 5th March, 1982 the managing director summoned the two captains and told them either to apologize by Monday the 8th March or according to the Claimants be dismissed. In any case there was a threat of disciplinary action. On 8th March, 1982, the three trade unions demanded from the managing director:

(a) The withdrawal of the sacking threat in writing.

(b) Immediate reinstatement of the two captains whose names had been deleted from the flying roster.

On the other side of these events was the restructuring exercise that had been going on for sometime and which in the beginning of March, 1982 was in the final stages of being implemented.

In early 1980 Government felt that I.A.T.A. experts be hired to produce a 5 year development plan to cover the period 81/82, 86/87. Originally a 15 year development plan was considered but it was felt by the authorities that it was no use going beyond 5 years. I.A.T.A. experts with proven experience, knowledge and qualifications were selected and interim report was issued in June, 1980. The matter was referred to the Cabinet and the Government decision was conveyed to the Respondents' board of directors through the Minister for Transport. The final report came out in April, 1981 and the board's recommendations were accepted by the Cabinet. The board had earlier been reorganized on the basis of the interim report. The top management was reorganized in May, 1981 after the final report. The managing director was asked to reorganize and restructure the whole airline. This involved the reduction of staff from 2850 as only 2038 were needed. It also entailed the revision of the terms of service and regrading of the staff. In all these matters the Respondents had to get clearance from the Parastatals Advisory Committee chaired by the Chief Secretary. It was the understanding with the Government that any surplus staff would be transferred to the Government for reassignment. Respondents were to submit analyses for each staff in their recommendations and those found wanting for one reason or another were to be handled in a different manner. The Court was told that this was the position even today.

In pursuance of the above the staff committee of the Respondents' board had met on 3rd March, 1982 at which all the Directors were present and an organizational structure with job titles and grading was approved. On 8th March, the board was to meet and fill the new posts. This was to entail re-deployment of staff.

Now reverting back to the situation in which the two captains found themselves—they had been told—at least one of them—on 5th March, that he should not fly and this was officially conveyed to both of them in writing at 1150 hours and 1200 hours on 8th March.

On 9th March, 1982, Staff Notice No. 4/82 was issued on company reorganization and staff deployment in which the two captains had been assigned duties of district sales representatives at Khartoum and Mogadishu. No individual letters were issued to the two captains formalizing the new postings. In fact up to the hearing of this dispute no such letters had been issued. Captain Wanyama got a copy of the circular from a guard who told him about his new posting.

The Court has now to decide if the two transfers are victimization of the two captains for their trade union activities or they are genuine transfers in the interest of the airline and the two captains concerned.

At this stage the Court would like to refer to two documents one being the managing director's reply to the three trade unions' (including the Claimants) press statement dated 4th March, 1982, in which he gave a detailed reply to the various issues raised by the trade unions and the Respondents' chairman's press release dated 9th March, 1982. The two following extracts are rather important from the Chairman's statement.

"1. The key requirements under the New Development Plan are:

1. That Kenya Airways future development should be on the basis of current route network and elimination of uneconomic route sectors and off-line stations should be given serious consideration.
2. That the present Kenya Airways aircraft fleet is obsolete and fuel inefficient and its early replacement with wide body/narrow body aircrafts should be considered as a matter of urgency.
3. That the airline's finances should be restructured in order to give the company a sound financial base. Corollary to this the plan calls for tighter financial control and effective cost-cutting measures to reduce costs.
4. That the top management of the airline must be strengthened.
5. That the airline must be re-organized. In this regard, the organizational structure must be rationalized, staff redeployment undertaken and the establishment, which presently exceeds the airlines' operational requirements, should be retrenched to a level consistent with the needs of the airlines."

"2. Having completed work on the Organizational structure, job titles and grading, the next most important exercise is slotting staff to jobs they are most suited. We have given serious thought and consideration to this matter and reviewed in great detail each employee's past performance to determine appropriate placement. So far we have confined our efforts to staff mainly in managerial category as we feel that the deployment of staff in other categories both professional and otherwise could best be handled at a later stage by the management. I am now happy to announce that we have finalized this difficult exercise and reached a decision on total company re-organization including staff re-deployment and re-assignment. A comprehensive staff Notice reflecting our decision has already been issued by the Managing Director and copies can be obtained from his office. The re-deployment measures are effective immediately and staff concerned should assume their new duties immediately. I would like to emphasize that in our re-deployment exercise, we have exercised total impartiality and objectivity and all along we were motivated by the need to achieve better flow of communication, greater efficiency and productivity, and the desire to offer a challenge and opportunity to those with recognized talents and resourcefulness. It was also important to pay attention to the obvious need of strengthening our branch offices abroad as most of our revenue is derived from this source. I feel confident that we have achieved our objectives and in doing so provided a great service to the Nation and the airline. This exercise has been rather labourious and time consuming and I wish to extend my Board's appreciation to our staff for their patience and co-operation during the entire exercise.

Let me reiterate that in carrying out this reorganization exercise our main objective has been to assign jobs to officers in areas they will be efficient and productive. If in course of the coming months an officer is unable to perform his duties efficiently the Board will have no option but to take corrective action."

During the hearing the Court was informed that vide a letter dated 27th July, 1982, the Minister for Finance had agreed to remit the tax on the specified allowance for the period ending on 31st December, 1981. This was in respect of payment of tax on allowance to local technical staff. This is indeed a matter of great relief to the Claimants' members because it was this particular matter more than anything else that was causing them great distress because these allowances had been paid to them since 1977 on a tax free basis and it was so reflected on their payslips. This letter from the Minister was a culmination of representations which the Respondents had made to the appropriate authorities since August, 1981, but surprisingly the Claimants were not briefed on these efforts being made by the Respondents on this extremely sensitive matter otherwise they would not have reacted in the manner they did in trying frantically to have an audience with the managing director. At the meeting of 18th December, 1981, the management told the Claimants' representatives that according to their records no allowances are payable to local staff tax free except transport allowance. And the acting managing director informed the meeting that he would endeavour to discuss the matter with the Commissioner of Income Tax with a view to arriving at a solution. The Claimants wished the Respondents to meet their tax liability but the Respondents did not feel competent to go beyond making representations to the authorities.

After the December meeting the Claimants had no idea of what progress had been made on this issue by the Respondents. There was therefore clearly a lack of communication between the Respondents and the Claimants on a matter which was of considerable importance to the employees concerned.

On the other two issues of signing of a negotiated collective agreement and salary arrears for officers who had been promoted the dispute having already been reported to the Minister for Labour it cannot be accepted that there was any real breakdown of communication.

The Court has examined the press release which was issued by the three trade unions and also the managing director's reply and the chairman's statement of 9th March, 1982. The newspaper reports appear sensational to some extent but the chairman's statement indirectly and directly covers most of the points made in the press release. Notwithstanding this and coupled with the caution by the Chief Pilot which was served on the Claimants the Court after thoroughly examining all the evidence on this point finds that the press release had slightly exceeded the bounds of what may generally be accepted and considered as part and parcel of trade union activities in which the employees of an organization take part.

The caution administered by the Chief Pilot was on 8th February, 1982 and read as follows:

"I would like at this time to congratulate the Association for adhering to the pledge made with the company 'never to go to Press for a negotiable matter until all normal machinery of negotiations are exhausted'.

However, on a Sunday Newspaper (Sunday Standard 7th February, 1982), there was a reported 'Run to Rule' by one of our crew. I believe this was shocking to the Association as it was shocking to the Company. What it means is that our schedules are not to be relied on, hence, scares our customers away to other airlines. Who loses? Our country and, of course all of us.

I would like to have discussion on this matter urgently as soon as you are available."

The Court however cannot overlook the circumstances under which the press statement was made, i.e. the pressing problem of income tax assessments on hitherto tax free allowances and the managing director's threat at the meeting of 18th December, 1981 and the tough stand that he tried to project at this meeting against the trade unions. These matters were bound to create a near panic state of mind in the Claimants' leaders and their members. This in Court's view considerably lessens the gravity of the press statement.

The top management no doubt was very angry at this and although the Respondents mentioned during the hearing that it was their prerogative to deploy their staff in whatever position they thought fit, they did concede that the two captains in their view had committed an act of grossest disloyalty by rushing to the press and making a most devastating comment and in the words of the managing director they bit the hand that fed them.

The Court cannot take seriously the Respondent's submission that in their view the two captains would make excellent district sales representatives as although they concede that the two captains had not been trained at all in this job, they feel that the job is more like that of an ambassador and they would be able to be productive. The Court must reject this submission in view of the evidence given by their own witnesses that there is a proper training scheme for sales representatives a line in which they progress up the ladder in stages. The two captains are not only highly trained at considerable expense on the part of the Respondents but are also experienced and senior in their respective fleets. In fact the Respondents have heavily invested in these two captains as indeed in the other flying staff also.

Now coming to the other submission which the Court finds to be more serious that there is an excess of pilots in the national airline and that in accordance with the recommendation of I.A.T.A. report and the prevalent recession of airline trade that some pilots have got to go but instead of making the two pilots redundant the Respondents had been kind to them in offering them alternative employment in which they would earn the same amount of money, if not more, as captains. If as is inevitable in view of I.A.T.A. report that the airline would be streamlined then the Respondents will have to follow the proper procedures as specified in labour laws before embarking on any redundancies the first step in this exercise would be notification to the Claimants and then negotiations with them. There is no evidence before the Court that the Respondents have seriously embarked on an exercise in declaring surplus pilots redundant. In fact one of the Respondents' witnesses said that it would take about two years before the I.A.T.A. report is implemented. So although redundancies to some extent may be unavoidable in due course the time for it has not come yet at least not on the evidence before the Court.

In any case the two captains have been employed by the Respondents as captains as per their letters of appointment and the Respondents would appear to be in breach of this contract by posting them in jobs for which they have not been employed and for which they have had no training notwithstanding the decision of the board and the fact that the only shareholder of the Respondents is the Kenya Government. In fact it would be a waste of public funds to deploy highly trained and experienced pilots to work as district sales representatives for which posts surely there are other better qualified personnel.

From a careful analysis of all the facts as they have been proved in this dispute the Court is satisfied that the Respondents had under active consideration a reorganization programme of the airline since 1980 and it gathered momentum in 1981 when the new managing director was appointed. While this was going on the Claimants for reasons which have already been mentioned hereinabove issued a statement which received wide publicity in the Sunday papers in Kenya and which naturally angered the managing director and the board. The Court has already found that this statement to some extent exceeded the normal accepted trade union rhetoric in such matters. In early March when the apology asked for from the two captains was not forthcoming the Respondents used the final stages of the restructuring exercise of the airline as a convenient excuse to punish the two captains for having caused that statement to be public against the Respondents in collusion with leaders of the other two trade unions who had also established a relationship with the Respondents.

The Court has examined this dispute from every possible angle but it inevitably leads the Court to only one inescapable conclusion that the two captains have been victimized for their trade union activities. The Court feels that even if the Respondents had a good and plausible reason for punishing the two captains, the fact remains that the punishment that they had decided upon is, to begin with, in breach of the employment contract between the two captains and themselves as they have been employed as captains. Another point is also considerably important that in the process of attempting to transfer them as district sales representatives to Mogadishu and Kharoum the Respondents have wittingly or unwittingly attempted to knock them out of their trade union activities. The Court is aware that the Respondents tried to establish a point by saying that all the facilities, etc., would be given to the two captains to attend to their trade union activities but the fact remains that it is easier said than done considering the exigencies of the service. The Court finds that if these two captains are dispatched to these two stations then that will effectively put them out of their trade union activities not only because they would be out of Kenya with all the attendant practical difficulties but also because in accordance with the various rules of the Claimants' constitution since they would cease to fly they would not be eligible to hold any office in the trade union leave aside holding such important positions as chairman and general secretary. So this transfer also amounts to an attempt to destabilize the Claimants. The Court would at this stage like to record that all the members of the Claimants comprising 34 captains, 34 first officers and 21 flights engineers have given a notice of solidarity dated 29th March, 1982, which has been circulated to all the relevant authorities and which reads as follows:

"We the undersigned being members of KALPA do hereby print our signatures on this paper individually and collectively declaring our solidarity with KALPA on any action that KALPA may find fit to take in defiance of the removal by Kenya Airways of Capt. Kinyanjui and Capt. Wanyama from active flying duties as their professional qualifications and ranks demand.

Our colleagues Capt. Kinyanjui and Capt. Wanyama are members and our elected officials of KALPA. After all we elected them to serve our interests for which they are now being victimized."

Having made the above findings the Court cannot overlook that the two captains while undertaking their trade union activities to some extent exceeded in what might be considered legitimate criticism of their employer and for which they deserved to be disciplined. Unfortunately for the Respondents, the punishment which they have meted out to these two captains is in breach of their contract of employment and also is an attempt to kill the trade union for the time being. They could have considered alternatives one of which was to accept an unreserved apology from the two captains and an assurance that they would behave in future or some other disciplinary action would have been considered.

The Court finds that the two captains have been victimized for their trade union activities and the Court has come to this conclusion for all the reasons that have been set out hereinabove. The Court therefore finds that the transfer of these two captains to non-flying duties as those of district sales representatives at Khartoum and Mogadishu is unjustified.

The Respondents have raised a point that since these two captains have not been dismissed but have only been redeployed the Industrial Court has no jurisdiction to interfere in their decision. With due respect the Court cannot accept this statement because the definition of the trade dispute covers allocation of work and in any case it is the function of this Court to settle all trade disputes which are referred to it either by the parties or the Minister for Labour and therefore it must be assumed that the Industrial Court has got inherent powers to deal with such matters. The Court having found that the Claimants have proved that their two members have been victimized, awards that they should immediately after the announcement of the award be reinstated to their flying duties but as the Court has pointed out that these two captains to some extent exceeded the normal activities of the trade union officials the Court orders that both of them should tender an unreserved apology to the Respondents for their conduct and that a reprimand for this should be placed in their personal files which will be expunged after a period of six months after the date of the Court award if no other similar offence is committed by them in the meantime.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 43 of 1982

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and Interfashions Garment Manufacturers Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. Titus Adira.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Interfashions Garment Manufacturers Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 20th August, 1982 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—T. Adira.

Respondents.—G. K. Wambua.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 20th May, 1982, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act. The Court received the notification from the Minister with the relevant statutory certificates on 24th May.

Mr. Adira started working for the Respondents in March, 1975 and was dismissed on 6th November, 1978. The Claimants alleged that at the time of his dismissal he was a supervisor but the Respondents denied it maintaining that he never held any supervisory or managerial responsibility.

The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's findings and recommendation were as follows:

"The investigation revealed that Mr. Adira had not been promoted to a supervisory grade as contended by the Association. It is true, however, that Mr. Adira had joined the Association with others but the management had resisted recognizing the Association. Further investigation on the warning letters issued in succession on 2nd, 3rd and 4th November, 1978 also revealed that Mr. Adira had firstly obtained permission from the head supervisor, a Mr. Dominic, in order to go and attend to his brother who was admitted in Coast General Hospital. He could not, therefore, have been able to work overtime as that period fell during the visiting hours. The warnings were therefore unjustified. After careful consideration I find that Mr. Adira was wrongfully dismissed.

As reinstatement in this case would not be advisable because of the strained relations between Adira and the management I recommend that he should be paid seven months' salary as compensation for the wrongful dismissal. This should be in addition to terminal benefits."

The Respondents rejected the Ministry's findings.

During the hearing Mr. Adira gave evidence on oath and stated that he had joined the Claimants in 1976/77 through Mr. G. Kariuki and in May the management asked a few of them if they had done so and promised that if they would withdraw from the Claimants then they could sit and talk about salary increases with them. On 4th May they were not allowed to work and six of them were sacked. The matter was reported to the Provincial Labour Officer, Mombasa and through his intervention they were reinstated. The Court is satisfied that these events did take place in view of the agreement which was produced in Court and which reads as follows:

"Agreed by both parties to the effect that all the six supervisors will resume their duties with immediate effect and work as they have been working until their discussions are over which will have to be completed within seven days' period effective from 4th May, 1977."

The Court also finds it proved that on 4th February, 1978, Mr. Adira was appointed as a production flow planning clerk and his wages were as follows:

Sh.
Tailoring	513
Clerical	87

Total Sh. 600

On the warning letters which were issued to Mr. Adira in early November, he maintained that he was not absent from work but because his brother was sick in hospital he went to visit him there after telling the other supervisor on duty about it and after he agreed. He said that he left the work at 4.30 p.m. and said he went to his brother on 2nd, 3rd and 4th November and was very surprised when Dominic the supervisor stated in front of the Respondents' administrative officer, Mr. Wambua, that he had gone away without his permission. He admitted, however, that he did not write any letter in reply to the warning letters.

Mr. Wambua gave evidence on behalf of the Respondents and stated that on 3rd November he received a report from Dominic that on 2nd November he had given instructions to all employees in the factory that they were required to work until 6 p.m. instead of 5 p.m. usual time. Everyone complied with the instruction except Adira who left at 4.30 p.m. Dominic confirmed this in Adira's presence. Adira, however, told him that overtime was not compulsory but voluntary. Mr. Wambua stated that on 3rd November he again left at 5 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. as requested. Adira was again questioned and his reply was again the same—that overtime was not compulsory. Finally on the next Saturday they were all supposed to work up to 4 p.m. but Adira left at 12.30 p.m. and did not come back in the afternoon and his services were accordingly terminated summarily. Mr. Wambua, however, admitted that except for overtime Adira had worked his normal time and that there were no complaints against him regarding his work performance.

The Court has carefully considered the Claimants' submission that Adira had been victimized for his trade union activities but in the light of the evidence and the fact that his termination took place after about a year and a half from the incident when he and the others were reinstated through the efforts of the Provincial Labour Officer the Court does not believe that that was the reason for his dismissal. The matter really revolves around what took place on 2nd, 3rd and 4th November. In view of the contradictory evidence given by Mr. Adira and Mr. Wambua for the Respondents the Court has decided that it should rely on the investigation of the Ministry of Labour which states that Mr. Adira had obtained permission from the head supervisory to attend to his brother who was admitted in hospital and therefore could not work overtime as that was the time during which visitors were allowed at the hospital and that under the circumstances the warnings were unjustified.

The Court, however, has carefully examined the attitude of Adira towards his work and his open defiance of the management instructions concerning overtime. If he had said that he refused to do overtime because his brother was sick in hospital and he had to visit him then it would be a different matter but his attitude is reflected in a letter which he wrote to the managing director on 9th November as follows:

"We are very sorry to inform you that we do not understand your above quoted letter on the allegation that on 2nd and 3rd of this month respectively we did not report at our places of work as required and that we left before the actual time of leave the place of work. We are sure that we were at our places of work at 7.30 a.m. and we left at 4.30 p.m. as usual. Please may we kindly know what time we are supposed to report and leave our places of work apart from those hours we have mentioned."

This attitude of Mr. Adira has influenced the Court to reduce the compensation that was recommended by the Ministry of Labour and the Court while finding that he had been wrongfully dismissed awards that he should be given four months compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered inclusive of one month's notice pay together with any amount due to him respect of leave and the days worked for which he was not paid.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 31 OF 1981

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and
Kenya Breweries Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of Mr. Simon Ngoji.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Breweries Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 6th August, 12th and 14th November, 1981 and 15th September, 1982 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—S. Ngoji.

Respondents.—E. Murage,

A. Kiarie,

K. Musyoki.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 16th September, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 25th May, 1981 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Ngoji worked for the Respondents from 1st December, 1969 to 19th June, 1979 when his services were terminated and he was offered Sh. 10,834/80 made up as follows:

"Sh. 3,708 being 90 days pay in lieu of notice.

Sh. 732/80 being 19 days wage up to the date of his termination.

Sh. 164 being 4 days leave entitlement.

Sh. 6,180 being his entitlement under the gratuity fund as he had served for 10 years."

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 3rd June, 1980 in the following terms:

"The decision to terminate Mr. Ngoji's services was arrived at after an official of the company had finalized his investigation. In his report he states among other things: 'After careful consideration on this case I am of the opinion that Mr. Ngoji fought Mr. Murage due to the fact that the latter sat on his seat. I do not agree with Ngoji that the seat belonged to him. According to my finding it has not been established beyond any shadow of reasonable doubt who fought who.'

Even the various statements made by the witnesses that led to the decision to terminate Mr. Ngoji's services indicate that the two fought each other. It is a pity the two gentlemen failed to solve their problem in a more civilized manner and instead resorted to violence. In the circumstances I find the decision to terminate Mr. Ngoji alone was unfair, considering that he had worked for the company for 10 years and his record was clean.

After careful consideration of the facts in the case it is recommended that Mr. Ngoji be paid four months' salary by way of compensation for loss of employment. He should in addition be paid his terminal benefits in accordance with the parties' collective agreement."

The Respondents accepted the above recommendation but the Claimants insisted on bringing the dispute to the Industrial Court.

During the hearing the Court had the opportunity in addition to the written and verbal submissions, of hearing the evidence on oath of the grievant and the Respondents' witnesses. The Court has no hesitation in finding that the grievant apart from being a quarrelsome person also seems to have no qualms about telling lies. One important point on which he has told lies is on the cause of what started the trouble between him and Murage in the Respondents' bus when they had reported off duty on 13th June, 1979 at about 4 p.m. At 4.45 p.m. Mr. Ngoji made a statement to the Respondents' investigator as follows:

"We were about 20 people when I got into the bus. This man (Engineering man) got in the bus and sat on my laps. When I asked him why he was sitting on my laps he retorted that the bus did not belong to me it was the company's bus. I further told him that I was in the bus before him. He however told me to get out otherwise he will beat me. Immediately he got hold of my neck and shirt and in karate style slapped me."

During his evidence in Court he gave quite a different version. Not only that, one day while giving evidence he said that Murage had sat on his records which he had placed on the seat and when questioned where the records were he said he had disposed them off along with the record player to a third party and therefore was not in a position to produce them. In cross examination it became apparent that he had no record player at the time of the incident and admitted lying to the Court. He tried to make out a case that he had sold the record player plus the records including the broken ones sometimes after he had fought Murage and yet admitted having sold the record player much earlier in 1978.

The Court can place no reliance on the evidence of a person who tells such blatant lies and the Court is inclined to believe that the Claimants also at one stage had told this man that he was always quarrelling.

The Court is satisfied that the Respondents carried out proper investigations before taking a decision to terminate his services in accordance with the provisions of the collective agreement and further they had good cause to do so, this being the disorderly conduct on the part of Ngoji and his unnecessary assault on a fellow employee. The Court finds that fighting under the circumstances of this case is indeed an offence contrary to the provisions of the collective agreement of which all the employees are aware.

The only worthwhile point which the Claimants made on his behalf was that some other employees had also fought as a result of which one had lost two teeth but the Respondents had taken no action against anyone. The Court, however, was not given any details or proof in this regard. In any case it is up to the Respondents to decide what action to take, taking in consideration all the circumstances relating to each different incident.

The Court would have been inclined not to award Mr. Ngoji anything over and above the aforesaid Sh. 10,834/80 but in view of the fact that the Respondents had offered to pay him four months' salary as recommended by the Ministry of Labour the Court feels that although the Respondents have proved their case they should pay Mr. Ngoji four months' salary in addition to Sh. 10,834/80. If the Respondents had not made this offer the Court would not have awarded this extra benefit to him. This is really on an ex gratia basis keeping in view his ten years' service with the Respondents.

Given in Nairobi the 15th October, 1982.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 33 of 1982

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and
Kenya Motor Corporation Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful termination of Wilson Odiango.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Motor Corporation Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th, 9th and 24th September, 1982 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—W. Odiango.

Respondents.—G. N. Gikanga.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 7th July, 1980, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 3rd May, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Odiango started working for the Respondents as a learner clerk in 1966 and rose to the position of parts manager at the Respondents' Kitale branch. As such he was in charge of stores from 1975 to 1978 in Kitale. At this time he was earning Sh. 40,400 p.a.

His services were terminated on 31st August, 1979, when he was given two months' notice of termination effective from 1st September, 1979. He was told that he was not required to work the notice period and that he would be paid other dues also. The reasons for the termination of his service are contained in the following three paragraphs of the letter of termination:

"You are aware that while you were stores manager Kitale branch you were warned on several occasions against carelessness and negligence in the performance of your duties. On one occasion for instance you purchased spare parts and subsequently failed to debit customers with the cost thereby causing financial loss to the company.

Owing to your performance in Kitale it became necessary to transfer you to head office in the hope that under closer supervision your work would improve. This has not happened. Instead, it has become necessary to warn you against idleness and also against the inferior quality of your work.

You have had sufficiently long experience to have developed into a competent and capable stores manager."

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose findings and recommendation were released to the parties on 22nd February, 1980, in the following terms:

"It was found that in Mr. Odiango's 14 years of service he was a hardworking person which warranted the several promotions until his work started to decline in 1979 when he was put in the parts sales department. After two months' training he was not given a chance in the stores section but was transferred to a different section altogether. He had no warning letter to his record and he was not given any reasons for the termination. Both parties agreed that this was effected when Mr. Odiango refused to resign his post.

It was also established that Mr. Odiango did some mistakes in his work but it is not clear whether he did them willingly and in that case the management acted too harshly in its decision to terminate his services.

His termination was therefore found to be wrongful.

After careful consideration of the facts in this report I recommend that Odiango should be paid all his terminal benefits plus five months' salary as compensation for wrongful termination."

After hearing the parties' submissions and the witnesses' evidence the Court gets a distinct impression that an employee who had worked satisfactorily for nearly ten years started attracting criticism when he was promoted to the position of branch parts manager in charge of Kitale branch. It appears that the Respondents promoted him to a position for which he was not ready at that time and they must therefore accept responsibility to a certain extent for his alleged failure in the new position.

The Respondents have submitted that Odiango had lost spares worth Sh. 45,205/20 in 1978 alone and that he could not explain how they had disappeared from the store. This had forced them to write them off as a loss. Mr. Odiango stated that when he took over the stores from an Asian who left the service abruptly there had been no formal handing over. The Respondents could not produce any such formal handing over document. Considering the gravity of the offence the Court was surprised that the Respondents did not take drastic action against him at that time but chose to write off the amount as loss. In these circumstances the Court finds that this particular incident cannot be used against Mr. Odiango for causing his termination.

The Court has carefully scrutinized the evidence on the various shortcomings of Mr. Odiango like his having committed many mistakes and failure to submit perpetual stock sheets to Nairobi weekly and for failing to charge the customers for the spares used in their jobs for which Mr. Odiango agreed to pay. All these stem from the fact that he had not been fully trained for accepting this higher responsibility. That appears to have been the reason why the Respondents decided to bring him to Nairobi for further training in the middle of 1979. The Court is not at all satisfied on the evidence regarding his so called training while in Nairobi but one fact stands out and that is that either during the training or immediately after that the services were terminated. This is rather odd because on the conclusion of his training he should have been tried out for a few months to see if he had benefited from the so called training. The Claimants alleged that he was moved from one department to another doing completely different jobs during this period. The Court's view in this matter is further strengthened by a letter which was written to Mr. Odiango from the parts control department in which the following two paragraphs appear:

"It was in the above understanding that I asked you to carry out the exercise of reaveraging in the FIMD stores and I subsequently got very disappointed by the results you presented to me and therefore told you to give me an explanation as to why you, having been a parts manager for a couple of years, could not be able to do a simple exercise as reaveraging (this explanation you have not been able to give).

I am of the opinion that if a parts manager cannot be able to do a simple exercise as reaveraging then he is not competent and qualified enough to run a parts department in a branch leave alone work efficiently in parts control department whereby a lot of skill is required to be able to present the expected standard of results to the management."

The Court is inclined to agree with the Ministry of Labour investigator that Mr. Odiango had received no formal warning letters and what the Respondents referred to warning letters at best can be termed cautionary memos only.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court has decided to uphold the findings and recommendation of the Ministry of Labour in this dispute and the Court awards that the Respondents should pay Mr. Odiango five months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful termination that he has suffered in addition to the two months' salary in lieu of notice which they have offered plus all his other terminal benefits to which he is entitled.

Given in Nairobi the 19th October, 1982.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 49 OF 1982

Parties:

Printing & Kindred Trades Workers Union
and Afropress Limited

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful dismissal of Robert Waswani.

1. The Printing & Kindred Trades Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Afropress Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 4th October, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 17th March, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 21st June, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant, Mr. Waswani, started working for the Respondents on 1st September, 1970 and his services were terminated on 21st December, 1978. At this time he was the Claimants' shop steward and shortly before his termination the Respondents' employees had gone on a strike after Waswani and the other shop stewards had been suspended by the Respondents because they had insisted that they were better qualified to replace the technical manager and had not taken orders from him. All of them, however, were taken back into employment with Waswani getting a pardon on 14th December, 1978 and started work on 18th December, 1978. It is alleged that he again refused to take instructions from technical and works manager and was therefore dismissed.

The Respondents, however, during the hearing offered to pay him four months' salary by way of compensation amounting to Sh. 5,212 and terminal benefits amounting to Sh. 4,246 because they were not in a position to call any witnesses to substantiate their allegations.

The Claimants strongly refuted the Respondents' allegations and referred the Court to the Ministry of Labour investigation which had recommended that Waswani be reinstated to his job without loss of benefits and he should in addition be paid half his wages for the period he has been out of employment. The Claimants demanded that the Court should award him:

"12 months wages compensation for wrongful dismissal and loss of job.

In addition he be paid full salary for 2½ years because the settlement of the case was deliberately delayed by the Respondents and caused hardship to Mr. Waswani without his faults."

In this dispute both the parties asked the Court to assess the compensation which the Respondents should pay Mr. Waswani. The Court would like to point out that the provisions of section 15 of the Trade Disputes Act do not allow the Court to award compensation of more than 12 months monetary wages where the Court does not award reinstatement. In this case Mr. Waswani has already secured another job at Sh. 3,000 p.m. with a house allowance of Sh. 150 with effect from October, 1980, so the Claimants are not asking for his reinstatement.

The Court has carefully considered the parties' submissions in this dispute and awards that the Respondents should pay Mr. Waswani a sum of Sh. 16,693/70 for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. This amount is made up of nine months' salary by way of compensation and Sh. 4,246/70 which the Respondents have offered to pay him but which he had refused to collect to date. The Court directs the Respondents to comply with this award immediately.

Given in Nairobi the 18th October, 1982.

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

CAUSE No. 16 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Journalists
and

The Publishers (Nation Newspapers Ltd. and the Standard Ltd.)

Issues in dispute:

Interpretation of Registered Collective Agreement No. 247/80 clauses dealing with:

1. Salaries.
2. Overtime in lieu.
3. Annual leave.

1. The Kenya Union of Journalists shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Publishers (Nation Newspapers Ltd. and the Standard Ltd.) shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 24th May, 4th August and 29th September, 1982, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Claimants also called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

F. Ojiambo
R. Irungu
P. Mulumu.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th November, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 22nd March, 1982, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

After many years the parties to this dispute were able to negotiate, conclude and sign a collective agreement at their own level on 17th October, 1980, with effect from 1st April, 1980, for a period of two years. This collective agreement was registered by the Industrial Court in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act.

It is a matter of great regret that the parties themselves having voluntarily negotiated this agreement are now in serious conflict over its interpretation on the most important clause therein regarding salaries and two other clauses covering overtime in lieu and annual leave. They have asked the Court to make a decision on these matters for them.

The Court would first of all like to examine the relevant provision in the collective agreement on the matter of salaries. After the preamble to the collective agreement it is stated as follows under the heading of salaries:

"The revised salaries contained herein contain a minimum increase of 11 per cent in the first year and 12 per cent in the second year. Anniversary increases contained and state herein continue, and will be given according to journalists' salary positions."

This is followed by a table which sets out the various categories starting with trainee reporter first and second year reporters from first to eighth year, photographers from first eighth year, chief photographer, sub-editors from first seventh year, assistant news editor, deputy chief reporter, chief sub, sports editor and features editor and their rates as they were on 1st April, 1979, followed by the salaries with effect from 1st April, 1980, followed by an set of new rates with effect from 1st April, 1981.

There appears to be little doubt that the rates effective from 1st April, 1980, for the various categories were arrived at by giving an 11 per cent increase on the rates as they were on 1st April, 1979, plus the anniversary increases ranging from Sh. 100 going up to Sh. 125, Sh. 175, Sh. 200 and Sh. 250 for certain categories.

The Respondents submitted a memo dated 16th July, 1980, which obviously was written prior to the collective agreement being signed which reads as follows:

"Agreed salary amendment for journalists 1st year 1st April, 1980, 11 per cent based on Cause No. 42 of 1979, salary structure 2nd year, 1st April, 1981, 12 per cent based on 1st April, 1980, salary positions. Anniversaries will be retained and remain unchanged."

It is signed by the representatives of the parties.

The Claimants rejected this memo and produced a couple of other memos one of which dated 16th October, 1980, reads as follows and appears to have been signed by the parties again:

"The revised salaries contained herein contain a minimum increase of 11 per cent in the first year and 12 per cent in the second year. Anniversary increases contained and stated herein continue and will be given according to journalists' salary positions."

The Claimants maintained that the salaries as incorporated in the collective agreement should have been implemented as follows:

The Claimants have also put forward big claims for arrears behalf of their members working for both the Respondents each claim running into thousands of shillings which they claimed they had been denied because of the wrong interpretation and implementation of the collective agreement by the respondents.

» Court has many times repeated in the past and would say in once again that when a collective agreement is worded and is not ambiguous in any manner then it is for the parties to expect the Court to look into their claims because it would lead nowhere except to unending suits. The Court must act on the only assumption open and that is that the parties knew and understood what they were signing as contained in the collective agreement. The Court therefore hold both the parties responsible for this collective agreement which has been registered by the Industrial Court and the Court expects them to honour it in all its details.

To begin with the Court finds that the parties have clearly agreed that the revised salaries contained a minimum increase of 11 per cent in the first year and 12 per cent in the second year. Further the anniversary increases are contained and stated in the collective agreement and continue in force to be given to the journalists according to their salary positions.

It follows quite clearly that all the journalists in their respective years of service or above move to the rates specified in the collective agreement on 1st April, 1980. There can be no doubt about it. On the date of the journalist anniversaries such journalists then move vertically and get another increase.

On 1st April, 1981, the various journalists then move horizontally to the new rates and on their anniversaries they again benefit by vertical movement.

The parties have also quite clearly stated in their collective agreement as follows:

"All journalists except the four posts excluded in the parties' recognition agreement shall benefit from this agreement to the same extent even if they are beyond 7th or 8th year they shall get these salary percentage increases and the anniversary increases."

This paragraph does not need any further clarification since it is so clear.

The Court would also like to uphold the Claimants' submission that any journalist who is in receipt of a special merit increase must not forfeit it by the new increase agreed between the parties in the collective agreement. Such merit increases should be in addition to the new increases contained in the collective agreement.

The Court, however, cannot accept the Claimants' interpretation that the anniversary increases are regulated by the journalists' salary positions meaning in the case of those above the scales that they get comparable anniversary increases for comparable salaries with the highest anniversary increases for those above the salaries set out in the scheme. The Court finds that if a reporter or a photographer is beyond the eighth year or a sub-editor is beyond the seventh year then these categories should get the anniversary increase of Sh. 175 in case of reporters and photographers and Sh. 250 anniversary increase in the case of sub-editors.

Having ruled on the above points the Court directs that the Claimants and the Respondents should get together under the chairmanship of Mr. Wangia of the Division of Manpower Planning & Development and work out the dues of each and every journalist who is affected by this collective agreement as it is obvious that the Respondents have interpreted the agreement to the disadvantage of the journalists. The parties will no doubt examine the relevant records of each person in assessing what is due to him and such dues should be paid forthwith.

2. Overtime in lieu

The provision in the collective agreement on this point reads:

"The hours of work will be 80 hours spread over a 14 days period; the number of working days will be decided by individual management in the light of the number of publishing days."

The Claimants argue that a journalist is to be available for assignment well before the actual assignment starts and can only go off duty after finishing his last assignment which means that his normal working day is a minimum of 10 hours including lunchtime which cannot be considered his off duty time and therefore carries the provision of meal allowance. They stated that 80 hours of work would normally be completed after an eight day period and thus be followed by six days off to complete the 14 days period. They added that this would tie in with the normal practice for overtime compensation whereby work on the free half of Saturday and on Sunday is counted as double time with overtime on working days at time and a half. They submitted that Saturdays and Sundays worked during the 14 days period should be counted as six days. The Claimants rejected the practice of one of the Respondents where ten days on is followed by four days off because they stated it was wrong, and was based on the principle of a day off for a day worked where those days are in fact Saturdays and Sundays and should thus be compensated on double time principle.

The Respondents submitted that this provision dated back to 1972 when the parties entered into the first collective agreement and it has neither been varied nor has its interpretation been changed since that time. They stated time off in lieu means what it meant in 1972.

After carefully considering this point the Court rejects the Claimants' interpretation on the overtime clause in the collective agreement and upholds the Respondents' submission.

3. Annual leave

The provision on annual leave reads as follows:

"Annual leave will be thirty two consecutive days. Gazetted public holidays falling within the period for which leave is granted shall be added to the leave on full pay following 12 months consecutive service."

The Claimants have submitted that since public holidays at present are ten equivalent number of days should be added to the 32 days' leave. They rejected the Respondents' argument that there are three gazetted public holidays in a year when Claimants' members do not work namely 1st January and 25th and 26th December.

The Court agrees with the Claimants' interpretation on this point because if the Respondents have decided not to publish the newspaper on certain public holidays then it is their decision because the Claimants' members would be ready and willing to work on those days if required to work by the Respondents. In view of this the Court upholds the Claimants' interpretation on this clause.

1. The Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Muljibhai J. Vekaria & Co. Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th September, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 6th February, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 1st April, 1982 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents are one of the largest electrical employers in the country and have in their employment 123 employees out of which 88 are casual or temporary workers and 35 monthly paid employees. Only ten of the 35 monthly employees pay their union dues through the check off system.

The dispute before the Court dates back to 1977 when Mr. Muraya was employed by the Respondents. The capacity in which he was employed and the rate per hour which should have been paid to him are in dispute.

His services were terminated on 20th March, 1978. The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour on the following two issues:

Dismissal of Mr. Muraya.

Underpayment to him.

The Ministry's findings and recommendations were as follows:

"It has been established that Mr. Muraya was no longer a casual labourer having worked with the company for 64 months. The dismissal was therefore wrongful.

It was found that the management tricked workers to sign forms for their wages to be withheld for 15 days unknowingly. After careful consideration of the facts contained in the case it is recommended that Mr. Muraya should be reinstated without loss of benefits and be paid his arrears as follows:

130 hrs. p.m. x 1170 hrs. (64 months) x 1.17 arrears p = Sh. 1,368/90."

The Claimants accepted the findings and the recommendation but the Respondents could not accept them and the dispute is now before the Court.

During the hearing the Claimants produced a document which had been signed by Mr. Muraya which reads:

"This contract is terminated on each end of each day. On my volition I request you to keep my daily wages until 15 days."

The Court was also shown petty cash vouchers through which Mr. Muraya was paid during his employment.

The Claimants strongly argued that Mr. Muraya had his services terminated by the Respondents because he and a few other workers had joined them on 27th February, 1978 and the Respondents did not like this. The Claimants' demand is that he was employed as an electrician untested and should have been paid at the rate of Sh. 3/68 p.h. They also produced an employees card which had been issued by the Respondents to Mr. Muraya in which his position had been stated to be that of an electrician.

The Respondents pleaded that Mr. Muraya had been employed by them as a casual electrician's mate at Sh. 2/51 p.h. and that he had signed a letter confirming that he was a casual employee. They denied that he was working as an untested electrician. The Respondents stated that they had carried out investigations and found that the rate for the electrician's mate under the collective agreement operative at the time of his employment was Sh. 3/05 p.h. and not Sh. 2/51, further in terms of section 14 (5) (2) of the Employment Act, 1976 his employment was terminable by 15 days notice or pay in lieu thereof. For these reasons they proposed that he be paid for the notice of 15 days and for an underpayment based on the difference between 3/05 and 2/51 times the total number of hours worked during his casual employment with the Respondents.

The Court is rather disturbed at the rate of casual employment lasting for such a long time which is being offered by the Respondents to the majority of their workers. The Court feels that this is an area where the Claimants should take up the matter with the Ministry of Labour in order to rectify the situation so that the workers are not exploited and the Respondents are required to observe fair labour practices.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that Mr. Muraya should have been given at least one month's notice before his services were terminated as the Court does not believe that he was strictly a casual employee. Since the Respondents did not give him proper notice the Court finds that he has suffered a wrongful dismissal.

The Court also finds in view of the clear documentary evidence produced that he was employed as an electrician untested and that he should therefore have been paid at the rate of Sh. 3/68 per hour.

The Court has decided to award compensation to Mr. Muraya for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered and awards that the Respondents should pay him four months' wages to be worked out at the rate of Sh. 3/68 p.h. as compensation.

The Court further awards that he should be paid Sh. 1,368 as worked out by the Ministry of Labour investigator being the underpayment which Mr. Muraya had suffered during his employment with the Respondents.

New wages, effective date and duration.

The Tailors & Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter referred to as the Claimants and Victoria Farmers Co-operative Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 1st October, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 29th June, 1981 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 28th May, 1982 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents recognized the Claimants on 23rd June, 1978 and the parties thereafter embarked on concluding a collective agreement with the Claimants submitting their proposals on 26th June.

The Respondents originally catered for five cotton primary societies only but in due course they found it necessary to handle all agricultural products and after amending their by-laws now they have 19 primary societies with a total membership of 14,805 farmers. Currently only 13 primary societies are active members.

The Respondents have a total of 114 permanent employees out of which 98 are unionizable. The Respondents also hire about 107 casual or seasonal employees during cotton ginning for a period of not less than six months a year.

The report from the Division of Manpower Planning & Development shows the monthly wage bill for all the Respondents' employees as follows:

	Sh. etc.
"Unionized members	42,268.15
Non-unionized	72,700.00
	114,968.15"

The parties have concluded all other items in the collective agreement with exception of those which are in dispute. The Claimants' demand on wages consists of new minimum rates for the various job categories starting from Sh. 350 for unskilled workers going up to Sh. 1,500 for book-keepers, with effect from 1st December, 1979 and a 40 per cent wage increase on these rates for the second year of the award. They also demand that those employees who are already earning above the minimum rates should get a wage increase of 30 per cent per year.

The Claimants bitterly attacked the Respondents for having adopted a negative attitude during negotiations at their own level and also during conciliation where even the conciliator appointed by the Ministry of Labour could make little headway with them. The Claimants asked the Court to award that the collective agreement should have remained in force for a period of two years from 1st December, 1979 and that the parties should now immediately embark on fresh negotiations again.

The Respondents have vigorously opposed the Claimants' demands on the ground that for the years 1977/78, 1978/79 and 1979/80 they suffered huge losses and added that the economic prospects are even gloomier now that the Government has stopped giving grants to co-operative societies. They pleaded that they could not maintain their current labour force and are in the process of declaring employees redundant and even the Sh. 2 increase wage offer made by them could not be sustained now. They went as far as to say that if it was possible they would have liked to reduce the wages below the statutory minimum.

During the hearing the Court was told that the Respondents gave all their employees salary increases of 6 per cent for those earning up to Sh. 700 and 5 per cent for those earning above Sh. 700 every year. They added that even the managerial staff get only these increases. The Claimants, however, were doubtful if the Respondents were doing so but the D.M.P.D. analysis confirms that such increases have been given plus 20 per cent house allowance on top of the monthly wage.

The Court notes that the statutory wages have been revised upwards with effect from 1st August, 1982. This must have forced the Respondents to increase the wages of some of their employees.

The Court cannot overlook the harsh economic difficulties which the Respondents are facing and the fact that they owe various creditors as at 31st July, 1982 a sum of Sh. 3,337,284/05.

The Court also appreciates that the Respondents are in a way essential for the well being of the peasants in that area as the peasants depend on them for their livelihood which in any case seems to be meagre.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court has come to the conclusion that the best it can do for the workers in this dispute is to maintain the status quo i.e. the Respondents should give them the annual increases of 5 per cent and 6 per cent as they have done in the past this year also.

On 1st April, 1981, the various journalists then move horizontally to the new rates and on their anniversaries they again benefit by vertical movement.

The parties have also quite clearly stated in their collective agreement as follows:

"All journalists except the four posts excluded in the parties' recognition agreement shall benefit from this agreement to the same extent even if they are beyond 7th or 8th year they shall get these salary percentage increases and the anniversary increases."

This paragraph does not need any further clarification since it is so clear.

The Court would also like to uphold the Claimants' submission that any journalist who is in receipt of a special merit increase must not forfeit it by the new increase agreed between the parties in the collective agreement. Such merit increases should be in addition to the new increases contained in the collective agreement.

The Court, however, cannot accept the Claimants' interpretation that the anniversary increases are regulated by the journalists' salary positions meaning in the case of those above the scales that they get comparable anniversary increases for comparable salaries with the highest anniversary increases for those above the salaries set out in the scheme. The Court finds that if a reporter or a photographer is beyond the eighth year or a sub-editor is beyond the seventh year then these categories should get the anniversary increase of Sh. 175 in case of reporters and sub-photographers and Sh. 250 anniversary increase in the case of sub-editors.

Having ruled on the above points the Court directs that the Claimants and the Respondents should get together under the chairmanship of Mr. Wanga of the Division of Manpower Planning & Development and work out the dues of each and every journalist who is affected by this collective agreement as it is obvious that the Respondents have interpreted the agreement to the disadvantage of the journalists. The parties will no doubt examine the relevant records of each person in assessing what is due to him and such dues should be paid forthwith.

2. Overtime in lieu

The provision in the collective agreement on this point reads:

"The hours of work will be 80 hours spread over a 14 days period; the number of working days will be decided by individual management in the light of the number of publishing days."

The Claimants argue that a journalist is to be available for assignment well before the actual assignment starts and can only go off duty after finishing his last assignment which means that his normal working day is a minimum of 10 hours including lunchtime which cannot be considered his off duty time and therefore carries the provision of meal allowance. They stated that 80 hours of work would normally be completed after an eight day period and thus be followed by six days off to complete the 14 days period. They added that this would tie in with the normal practice for overtime compensation whereby work on the free half of Saturday and on Sunday is counted as double time with overtime on working days at time and a half. They submitted that Saturdays and Sundays worked during the 14 days period should be counted as six days. The Claimants rejected the practice of one of the Respondents where ten days on is followed by four days off because they stated it was wrong and was based on the principle of a day off for a day worked where those days are in fact Saturdays and Sundays and should thus be compensated on double time principle.

The Respondents submitted that this provision dated back to 1972 when the parties entered into the first collective agreement and it has neither been varied nor has its interpretation been changed since that time. They stated time off in lieu means what it meant in 1972.

After carefully considering this point the Court rejects the Claimants' interpretation on the overtime clause in the collective agreement and upholds the Respondents' submission.

3. Annual leave

The provision on annual leave reads as follows:

"Annual leave will be thirty two consecutive days. Gazetted public holidays falling within the period for which leave is granted shall be added to the leave on full pay following 12 months consecutive service."

The Claimants have submitted that since public holidays at present are ten equivalent number of days should be added to the 32 days' leave. They rejected the Respondents' argument that there are three gazetted public holidays in a year when Claimants' members do not work namely 1st January and 25th and 26th December.

The Court agrees with the Claimants' interpretation on this point because if the Respondents have decided not to publish the newspaper on certain public holidays then it is their decision because the Claimants' members would be ready and willing to work on those days if required to work by the Respondents. In view of this the Court upholds the Claimants' interpretation on this clause.

Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers

and Muljibhai J. Vekaria & Co. Ltd.

Issues in dispute:

1. Dismissal of Mr. John Muraya: 24th February, 1978, letter compelled the management to promote casual worker from official rate 2.52 to 3.68 rejecting clause 12 "promotion shall be at management's discretion": management.
2. Underpayment of Mr. John Muraya: union rate for electrical mate was 2.52 p.h. and management paid 2.57 p.h.: management.

1. The Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Muljibhai J. Vekaria & Co. Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th September, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 6th February, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 1st April, 1982 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents are one of the largest electrical employers in the country and have in their employment 123 employees out of which 88 are casual or temporary workers and 35 monthly paid employees. Only ten of the 35 monthly employees pay their union dues through the check off system.

The dispute before the Court dates back to 1977 when Mr. Muraya was employed by the Respondents. The capacity in which he was employed and the rate per hour which should have been paid to him are in dispute.

His services were terminated on 20th March, 1978. The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour on the following two issues:

Dismissal of Mr. Muraya.

Underpayment to him.

The Ministry's findings and recommendations were as follows:

"It has been established that Mr. Muraya was no longer a casual labourer having worked with the company for 64 months. The dismissal was therefore wrongful.

It was found that the management tricked workers to sign forms for their wages to be withheld for 15 days unknowingly.

After careful consideration of the facts contained in this case it is recommended that Mr. Muraya should be reinstated without loss of benefits and be paid his arrears as follows:

130 hrs. p.m. x 1170 hrs. (64 months) x 1.17 arrears p.h. = Sh. 1,368/90."

The Claimants accepted the findings and the recommendation but the Respondents could not accept them and the dispute is now before the Court.

During the hearing the Claimants produced a document which had been signed by Mr. Muraya which reads:

"This contract is terminated on each end of each day. On my volition I request you to keep my daily wages until 15 days."

The Court was also shown petty cash vouchers through which Mr. Muraya was paid during his employment.

The Claimants strongly argued that Mr. Muraya had his services terminated by the Respondents because he and a few other workers had joined them on 27th February, 1978 and the Respondents did not like this. The Claimants' demand is that he was employed as an electrician untested and should have been paid at the rate of Sh. 3/68 p.h. They also produced an employees card which had been issued by the Respondents to Mr. Muraya in which his position had been stated to be that of an electrician.

The Respondents pleaded that Mr. Muraya had been employed by them as a casual electrician's mate at Sh. 2/51 p.h. and that he had signed a letter confirming that he was a casual employee. They denied that he was working as an untested electrician. The Respondents stated that they had carried out investigations and found that the rate for the electrician's mate under the collective agreement operative at the time of his employment was Sh. 3/05 p.h. and not Sh. 2/51, further in terms of section 14 (5) (2) of the Employment Act, 1976 his employment was terminable by 15 days notice or pay in lieu thereof. For these reasons they proposed that he be paid for the notice of 15 days and for an underpayment based on the difference between 3/05 and 2/51 times the total number of hours worked during his casual employment with the Respondents.

The Court is rather disturbed at the rate of casual employment lasting for such a long time which is being offered by the Respondents to the majority of their workers. The Court feels that this is an area where the Claimants should take up the matter with the Ministry of Labour in order to rectify the situation so that the workers are not exploited and the Respondents are required to observe fair labour practices.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that Mr. Muraya should have been given at least one month's notice before his services were terminated as the Court does not believe that he was strictly a casual employee. Since the Respondents did not give him proper notice the Court finds that he has suffered a wrongful dismissal.

The Court also finds in view of the clear documentary evidence produced that he was employed as an electrician untested and that he should therefore have been paid at the rate of Sh. 3/68 per hour.

The Court has decided to award compensation to Mr. Muraya for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered and awards that the Respondents should pay him four months' wages to be worked out at the rate of Sh. 3/68 p.h. as compensation.

The Court further awards that he should be paid Sh. 1,368 as worked out by the Ministry of Labour investigator being the underpayment which Mr. Muraya had suffered during his employment with the Respondents.

The Court also directs the Labour Officer of that area to ensure that the workers are given these wages and also 20 per cent house allowance because the Claimants stated that it was not true that the Respondents gave their members 20 per cent house allowance per month. The Respondents have either to provide them houses or give them 20 per cent house allowance. The Labour Officer must ensure that they do so.

Finally the Court rules that the effective date of the collective agreement should be 1st December, 1979 and that it should continue in force until 31st July, 1983.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 38 of 1982

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and Economic Tours Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mrs. Grace Owang.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Economic Tours Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd September and 14th October 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Claimants called Mrs. Owang and the Respondents called Mrs. L. Muya as their witnesses.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 20th May, 1982 in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act which reference the Court received the same day together with the relevant statutory certificates.

The Respondents acquired their business from Fourteen Falls Tours Ltd. late in 1974. Mrs. Owang was an employee with Fourteen Falls Tours Ltd. and she was asked by the Respondents to join them which she did.

Mrs. Owang claims that her position in the business was that of a secretary and that she was instrumental in getting the Respondents' directors in getting the business from Fourteen Falls Tours Ltd. She said that she was also promised 30 per cent shares in the business by the Respondents.

Sometime in 1976 Mrs. Owang was transferred to the Respondents' branch at Hotel Boulevard and she proceeded on her annual leave on 31st March, 1976 and resumed work on 23rd April. She was called by the Respondents' director and told that her services had been terminated forthwith and she should not report for duty the following day.

The Claimant took up the matter on her behalf and reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour and the Ministry's findings and recommendations were conveyed to the parties reading as follows:

"In this respect while it is accepted that the company was solely owned by the director and that Mrs. Owang was just a mere employee the treatment she received on her return from her leave leaves a lot to be desired. The allegation made by the management that she stole some company's property is very serious and in absence of any proof to that direction ought to be ignored completely. Even if the management did not require the services of the claimant her services should have been terminated normally and unproved accusations avoided.

Having carefully considered all the evidence adduced and the surrounding circumstances on this case it is recommended that Mrs. Owang's dismissal should be reduced to normal termination and she be paid a month's pay in lieu of notice, pay in lieu of leave (if any) and in addition she be paid two months' wages as compensation for loss of her employment."

The Claimants then demanded a sum of Sh. 9,466/65 from the Respondents made up as follows:

	Sh.
1 month's salary in lieu of notice @ Sh. 2,200	2,200.00
20 days leave which was unused	1,466.65
2 months wages compensation	4,400.00
Telephone deductions	1,400.00

The Respondents submitted that Mrs. Owang had misled them regarding her salary which she used to get from Fourteen Falls Tours Ltd. by telling them that she used to earn Sh. 1,200 instead of 600. It was further submitted that her work performance was very poor and the Respondents' business was doing badly at the time. Moreover Mrs. Owang misused the telephone with the result that they had to start deducting Sh. 200 p.m. from her salary for the unauthorized trunk calls she made to Kisumu. They accused her of having rubbed off "trunk calls" from the telephone bills.

The Respondents maintained that despite the fact that Mrs. Owang being a married woman and had a lot of problems with her husband they tolerated her and had it not been for her dishonesty she would not have been sacked. They asked the Court to reject her claim.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that Mrs. Owang's monthly salary was Sh. 1,200 p.m. and not Sh. 2,200 as claimed by her. The Court accepts the Respondents' explanation that they had written in some letters that her salary was Sh. 2,200 p.m. merely to help her secure loans etc. The Court must, however, severely reprimand the Respondents for having given such false information to the authorities concerned. The Court has also relied on a letter which the Respondents had written to the Government in order to secure the licence for their business in coming to the conclusion that Mrs. Owang was really not all that bad as the Respondents made her out to be. The Court, however, accepts the Respondents' submission on the misuse of telephone by her and since she did not object to Sh. 200 being deducted from her salary the Court finds that she agreed to such deductions.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that Mrs. Owang has suffered a wrongful dismissal at the hands of the Respondents and awards that the Respondents should pay her a sum of Sh. 3,900 being her dues and compensation made up as follows:

	Sh.
One month's pay in lieu of notice	1,200
Two month's salary by way of compensation	2,400
Seven days leave	300

The Court directs the Respondents to pay this amount to her immediately.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE No. 53 of 1982

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and
Dunlop Kenya Limited

Issue in dispute:

Termination of Mr. Z. Indura.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Dunlop Kenya Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 11th and 12th October 1982 and in addition to replying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants:—Z. Indura.

Respondents:—J. Thuo.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 22nd June in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act which reference the Court received on 24th June together with the relevant statutory certificates.

Mr. Indura used to work for the Respondents from 15th December 1975 until 11th September 1982 when he was told that his services would be terminated with one month's notice due to unsatisfactory job performance.

One notable feature of Mr. Indura's employment is that he received accelerated promotions with the result that having started with a monthly salary of Sh. 300 he was earning Sh. 2,000 in January 1978 and when his services were terminated he was earning Sh. 2,200.

During the material period the Respondents' works manager was one Mr. J. L. Kamala, a Tanzanian. The Court must point out that the Claimants made an allegation in their written submission to the investigator and which they repeated in their written memo to the Court, which appears to be irresponsible if not reckless when they stated that Mr. Kamala did not want to employ able Kenyans to work in the company as he preferred his own people from Tanzania. Further it was for this reason that the Tanzanian manager victimized Mr. Indura because the latter suspected that goods were being smuggled out of Kenya. The Court is satisfied that there is no truth in these allegations because the only Tanzanian in the Respondents' factory was Mr. Kamala all the others being Kenyans and the Claimants made no attempt either before the investigator or the Court to prove that any goods were being smuggled out of Kenya by anybody and that Mr. Indura suspected that. The Court wonders what is the purpose of such ill founded and misconceived allegations. It only hurts the case of the party making such allegations in which there is no truth.

The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry recommended that he should be reinstated and the period he had been out to be treated as leave with half pay. The Ministry's findings were as follows:

"After going through both memoranda and also interviewing both parties it was found that Mr. Indura had got a very accelerated promotion which raised his salary from Sh. 300 to Sh. 2,200 p.m. It was also established that the same works manager who was recommending him for these promotions is the same one who terminated his services when their relationship turned sour. It was also noted that within a period of about six weeks Mr. Indura was already issued with seven written warning letters. This does not only create doubt but is questionable. The allegation by Mr. Indura that he suspected goods being smuggled out of Kenya has not been proved."

During the hearing the Respondents explained to the Court that they had been at a disadvantage in this dispute because their submissions to the investigator had been made by Mr. Kamala who had since been sacked because of inefficiency and that he had not made proper submissions. Mr. Kamala was sacked a few months after Mr. Indura's services were terminated.

The Respondents pleaded that the real reason why Mr. Indura's services had been terminated was because the tiles that were produced during his shift had been rejected by customers like Kenyatta National Hospital, the Treasury and Hill Plaza and this had resulted in their suffering a loss of millions of shillings. This strong submission, however, had not been made by them to the investigator because as they pointed out it was Mr. Kamala's fault for not having done so as he was the works manager at the time and it was no doubt for this very staggering loss suffered by the Respondents that Kamala's services were also terminated.

The tiles produced by the Respondents during that time were not up to the standard and although they managed to pass through the senior supervisor and the quality controller they were subsequently rejected when they were used by the contractors on the site.

The Court cannot believe that all these tiles worth millions of shillings were produced during Indura's shift only as the factory was working three shifts and it appears that the whole factory was producing the tiles which were not of the required standard and were subsequently rejected by the customers. The Respondents no doubt had a poor works manager who was also instrumental in giving such accelerated promotions to Mr. Indura who in a matter of six weeks received seven warning letters. Interestingly all these warning letters were issued by Kamala who had set the ball rolling on 15th February 1979 by writing a general memo to Mr. Indura as follows:

"These days I have noticed that you are not applying yourself fully in your job. I am asking you to improve and to show the normal enthusiasm you used to show formerly. And please do improve in your technical performance. My talk with you on this refers."

The Court has very carefully studied the contents of the various warning letters and it appears that things were going seriously wrong as far as Mr. Indura's work performance was concerned. What his relationship with Mr. Kamala was at the time is a matter of conjecture but the overriding fact remains that the products produced by the Respondents during that time were below standard.

In this case the Court is faced with the situation where at the material time things had gone wrong in the whole factory as it is inconceivable that only one supervisor was responsible for the substandard products. The other supervisors were equally responsible along with the works manager, Mr. Kamala, for this state of affairs. The Court has to decide if in these circumstances the Respondents were justified in terminating Mr. Indura's services only out of all the factory staff when the works manager also was not very competent having been himself sacked a few months after Indura.

The Court has given careful thought and consideration to this dispute and finds that under the circumstances the management are in a better position to judge who is the major cause of inefficiency in their undertaking and the Court feels that at the material time the real culprit was the works manager. The Court however notes that the factory work proceeded on a work formula received from overseas. The preparation of the formula of course had to be supervised by the supervisors. The Court feels hesitant to interfere in the management decision in cases of this nature but considering all aspects of this dispute the Court feels that Mr. Kamala tried to push all the blame for the substandard products produced by the Respondents on to Mr. Indura. The Court therefore feels that the Respondents' action in terminating Mr. Indura's services on Mr. Kamala's initiative was rather questionable and the senior management should have taken the trouble to investigate the accelerated promotions to Mr. Indura and subsequent seven warnings to him in a matter of six weeks from their same works manager, Mr. Kamala.

The Court has come to the conclusion that Mr. Indura has suffered a wrongful termination but considering all the circumstances of this dispute the Court finds that he merits only a token compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. The Court awards that Mr Indura should be paid three months' salary by way of compensation and this includes one month's notice that he is entitled to. He should also be given his other lawful dues.

Given in Nairobi the 3rd November, 1982.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 52 of 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and
Pan Africa Insurance Co. Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Alfred Mungai.

The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Pan Africa Insurance Co. Ltd., shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 13th October, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants.—A. Mungai.

Respondents.—W. K. Mungai.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 17th November, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 21st June, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

In this dispute Alfred Mungai who used to work for the Respondents as a clerk and performed duties at the front office reception was summarily dismissed on 18th December, 1979. He was accused of having earned a commission by false pretences. He had joined the Respondents on 15th October, 1974, and at the time of his dismissal he was also an agent for the Respondents under which agency he secured insurance business for the Respondents in his spare time and for which he was entitled to earn appropriate commission.

It is not disputed that one Mr. Musau had applied for a policy cover through Maendeleo Insurance Agency sometimes at the beginning of 1979. This particular agency had brought a large amount of business to the Respondents through introducing Harambee Co-operative to the Respondents. The Respondents naturally were extremely careful not to lose business and had instructed their general manager, Mr. W. K. Mungai, to take personal charge of that account.

Mr. Musau's premium was to be paid through check-off affected on his salary through Harambee Co-operative but apparently there was some delay in this respect. Mr. Musau called at the Respondents' offices and met Mr. Mungai at the reception. On 19th July, 1979, Mr. Mungai wrote to Mr. Musau's employers to remit the deductions.

It is obvious from the evidence produced during the hearing that Mr. Musau made repeated inquiries about his policy as he was very keen that he should not lose a minute before his life was covered. Mr. Mungai admitted that he had written a letter to Mr. Musau's employers but a reply had not come and that on 1st August, 1979, when Mr. Musau had again come inquiring about his matter there was no trace of the premiums having been received. He then took Mr. Musau for lunch during which Mr. Musau requested him to issue him with a new policy. Mr. Mungai said that he had agreed to issue the new policy because Mr. Musau was afraid that he might die without being covered. So Mr. Mungai sold him a policy in the Blue Fin Cafe.

The Court is satisfied that Mr. Mungai was aware of the company regulations in that he was not supposed to indulge in his business during the company time. He also admitted that business transacted at the counter was a direct sale.

The Court has carefully considered the evidence of both Mr. Mungai and Mr. W. K. Mungai, the Respondents' general manager, and finds it proved that Mr. Mungai's conduct in this affair was indeed questionable and one that could easily cause a big loss to the Respondents as it directly poached upon the business that had been brought to them by Maendeleo Insurance Agency.

The Respondents gave Mr. Mungai an opportunity to give an explanation by writing to him on 13th December, 1979, when he was told that he had committed a gross misconduct and was liable to instant dismissal. He was accused of having completed the proposal for life insurance in respect of Mr. Musau and placed it in his own agency knowing quite well that the proposal should have been placed under Maendeleo Insurance Agency. Unfortunately for Mr. Mungai he adopted a rather somewhat hostile attitude as is evident from the following two paragraphs of his reply:

"If your office has received complaints or accusations against my agency from Maendeleo Insurance Agency I would be willing to meet them and prove my case as an agent that I never earned commission which was not supposed to be mine.

Furthermore I do not see how a case between two contracts of insurance agency should affect my contract of employment with you. I would therefore advise you to leave the matter with the agents manager or whoever is concerned and as an agent I should be allowed to defend my earned commission against the interests of Maendeleo Insurance Agency."

The Court has very minutely examined the various documents also in this dispute and finds that Mr. Mungai's conduct was indeed unworthy of a dedicated and sincere employee. The Court cannot accept the findings and recommendation of the Ministry of Labour reducing the dismissal to normal termination and payment of two months' salary as compensation for loss of his job.

The Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents' decision to summarily dismiss Mr. Mungai should stand and the Claimants' demand for his reinstatement is accordingly rejected. Mr. Mungai was aware that another employee had also lost his employment a few months earlier in somewhat similar circumstances and he should have been extremely careful. The Court cannot help him in this dispute.

Given in Nairobi the 10th November, 1982.

Judge.

7. Effective date.

THE Transport & Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenatco Transport Co. Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 28th October, 1982, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 12th May, 1982, was received by the Court on 20th July together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents are wholly owned by the Kenya Government through the Industrial & Commercial Development Corporation and have their head office in Nairobi with branches in Mombasa, Uganda, Rwanda and Zambia. They have in their employment 888 people divided into the following categories:

"Drivers, road haulage	147
Drivers, taxi services	183
Mechanics, artisans and analogous	300
Administrative and clerical	69
Managerial personnel	189."

The parties have had dealings with each other for many years now and the latest collective agreement between them which is the subject matter of the current review was signed on 15th July, 1980, for a period of 24 months with effect from 1st July, 1979.

The parties' main bone of contention now is that the Claimants want the Respondents to apply the harmonization policy in the parastatals and this has prompted them to formulate a demand which is based on the civil service scales for all their members. The Claimants have argued that because the Respondents have implemented the Government directive of harmonization in respect of managerial staff there is no reason why that also should not be adopted for all the 888 unionizable employees. The Respondents of course have rejected this demand and have on their part suggested a salary scale for job groups G, H, I, J, K and L starting at the lowest at Sh. 500 and ending up at the highest at Sh. 2,280 with various increments.

The Court has carefully studied the directives which have been issued by the Office of the President on the subject of salaries and terms of service for parastatal organizations following the Waruhiu Committee Report on the Civil Service. The relevant part is contained in para 23 which reads:

"The terms of service for all other employees of parastatals should be reviewed so as to harmonize them with those obtaining in the Civil Service. This should embrace all allowances such as house allowance, mileage allowance, leave allowance and others. All terms and conditions of service should be codified and rewritten to reflect the desire of the Government to harmonize terms of employment of all the sectors of the public service."

The Court has also noted the following paragraphs which appear in a letter from the Directorate of Personnel Management dated 8th August, 1981, to the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Commerce which reads:

"It has been noted that Kenatco Transport Co. Ltd. enters into an agreement with the union after every two years. The existing agreement expired at the end of June, 1981, and negotiations for a new agreement are already going on. The management of Kenatco Transport Co. Ltd. should be guided by the guidelines issued in the Chief Secretary's letter OP. 9/21/24/IV/(171) dated 18th February, 1981, as amended from time to time when conducting negotiations with the union. In particular, the management of the company should strictly note paragraph 23 of the Chief Secretary's letter OP/9/21/24/IV/(171).

The management of the company should also note the fact that the current exercise is that of salary review for existing job grades and should not be taken to include grading and regrading of posts which should be treated separately.

Subject to the modification above and the availability of funds you may now authorize Kenatco Transport Co. to implement the new salaries and house allowance with effect from 1st October, 1980, and other terms of service with effect from 1st January, 1981."

After carefully studying this point the Court finds that the parties really have made no serious effort at their own level to comply with the Government directives as they are poles apart in their respective positions. In these circumstances the Court feels that it would not be prudent for the Court to work out a salary scale for the parties as they obviously themselves have not made a serious attempt in this regard. The Court would not like to make an award which would place either party at a disadvantage and the Court has come to the conclusion that the best it can do in this sort of situation is to grant a wage increase to the workers on the basis of their existing remuneration with a directive that the parties should on the announcement of the award get together and embark on a job classification exercise and then make a serious attempt to work out new salary scales taking fully into account the Government directives.

The Court must now determine what the workers' entitlement under the Guidelines is. The Division of Manpower Planning and Development report reveals that for two year period based on the basis of three quarter compensation under the Guidelines it would give the workers an increase of 9.7 per cent per year. The Respondents' offer would give the workers 3.7 per cent per year less than their entitlement under the Guidelines.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court awards that all the Respondents' employees affected by this dispute should be awarded a wage increase of 10 per cent on their wages as at 30th June, 1981, and a further wage increase of 10 per cent on their wages as at 30th June, 1982.

2. Housing allowance

Under the collective agreement which has been reviewed all the employees get a house allowance of Sh. 120 p.m. and the Respondents have proposed following rates with the Claimants' demand also appearing alongside:

Group	Present rate Sh. p.m.	Proposed new rate Sh.
L, K	120	200
J, I, H	120	450
G	120	600

Claimants demand

Group	Sh.
C, D	450
E, F	600
G	850
H	1,200

The Court notes that the additional cost of the Respondents offer is to the tune of Sh. 180,200 p.a. The Respondents' offer is backdated to 1st July, 1981.

The Court finds the Respondents' offer to be reasonable under the circumstances and the Court awards the house allowance as follows:

Group	Sh. p.m.
L, K	200
J, I, H	450
G	600

4. Safari allowance

The present arrangement on this item is that the employees are paid on nightly and limitless basis. The employees who are entitled to this are technical and clerical staff, taxi and lorry drivers and loaders. The prevailing rates are:

	Sh. per day
Technical/clerical staff and taxi drivers	110
Lorry drivers and loaders:
within Kenya	75
within E. Africa (Uganda)	80
outside E. Africa (Rwanda, Burundi, Sudan etc.)	85

The employees are paid rates depending on the country of travel ranging from Sh. 110 to Sh. 135 per day.

The Respondents have put forward a proposal to categorize and redefine the allowances relating to travel on duty outside station as follows:

"Safari allowance: The allowance is for practical purposes and as far as possible restricted to haulage drivers operating on international routes.

Contract allowance: The allowance is restricted to taxi drivers who are on contract jobs.

Subsistence allowance: The allowance is applicable to technical and clerical staff who travel on duty occasionally outside their duty stations."

The Respondents pleaded that their operating costs had been distorted as a result of limitless basis which they had operated because of the use of two drivers per lorry on international routes. The Respondents were faced with the situation where either they had to resort to redundancy or to modify the system of payment of safari allowance on international routes to avoid any possible abuse by the drivers who will never run out of excuses to justify their delays for the sole purpose of earning larger amount. They stressed that the profitability of haulage business depended on quicker turn arounds. For these reasons they proposed to change the present system of payment of safari allowance to fixed rates with an assurance that no employee on safari would be subject to any undue hardship as a result of the change.

The Claimants made a very brief submission on this point and stated that since they were asking for one salary structure safari allowance should automatically be determined by one's grade in accordance with a circular letter dated 29th April, 1978 from the then general manager, Mr. C. J. Kirubi.

The Court has very carefully considered the Respondents' offer and kept in view the fact that they are running at a big loss for the last year or so. The Court must stress that the Respondents have worked out their proposals by studying all aspects of this problem which is evident from the following table:

Route	Number of days allowed per turn round	Estimated cost per vehicle per turn	Proposed fixed rate per turn round	Perce. Adj. % against column(3)
MSA/KPL/MSA	7	Sh. 1,080	Sh. 1,800	66-67
MSA/KGL/MSA	12	1,920	2,400	25-00
MSA/BJU/MSA	12	1,920	2,400	25-00
MSA/BJU/MSA	15	2,430	3,200	31-69

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court has decided to accept the Respondents' proposal and awards in terms thereof.

5. Overtime, lump sum, tax drivers

At present this rate is at Sh. 220 p.m. and the Respondents spend Sh. 500,000 p.a. on payment of this overtime.

The Claimants have demanded that this fixed rate should be increased to Sh. 350 p.m. and if the Claimants' demand is accepted it would bring the total cost of this overtime to one million shillings per annum. The Respondents have offered to increase it by Sh. 40 to bring it up to Sh. 260.

After carefully considering the present system whereby the drivers work on a 24 hour shift system and there is always a stand-by team made up of about five drivers per shift the Court feels that the Claimants' demand is excessive.

The Court awards that this overtime rate should be increased from Sh. 220 p.m. to Sh. 270 p.m.

6. Transport allowance

After carefully considering this demand the Court rejects it.

7. Effective date

Under the collective agreement which is being reviewed all the unionizable employees were granted wage increases with effect from 1st July, 1979, and with effect from 1st July, 1980. The Court notes that the collective agreement expired on 30th June, 1981.

The Court must point out that the collective agreement with the said effective date and duration was registered by the Industrial Court under the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act and therefore until such time as the parties have worked out a proper job classification and salary scales the Court feels that the effective date of the new collective agreement should be 1st July, 1981, with the exceptions of safari allowance for which the effective date should be 1st December, 1982.

Given in Nairobi on the 22nd November, 1982.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3620

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 51 OF 1982

Parties:

Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union
and
Maasai Rural Development Centre

Issue in dispute:

Suspension of Raphael Sankaire. Non-payment of wages during the suspension period i.e. as from April 1977 to date.

THE Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Maasai Rural Development Centre shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th, 8th and 27th October, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence:

Claimants.—R. Sankaire.

Respondents.—G. W. Mungai.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 11th September, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 21st June, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. R. Sankaire used to work for the Respondents as an unqualified veterinary assistant and it is alleged by the Respondents that they had terminated his services on 4th July, 1977. His salary at the time was K.Sh. 335 p.m. The Claimants have all along maintained that his services were never terminated and that he was only suspended and have asked for his suspension to be lifted and for payment to him for all his salary from April, 1977, to date amounting to over K.Sh. 21,000.

The immediate cause of suspension on 1st April, 1977, was that there was some money missing in the office. The Respondents appeared to have taken no further action on this matter and the Claimants were forced to bring in the Ministry of Labour when a Labour Officer was appointed to act as an investigator and although this particular investigator had initiated certain steps in the dispute another investigator was subsequently appointed. This second investigator found and recommended as follows:

"Investigations revealed that Mr. Sangale was an extension services worker employed by the centre which is run by the FCEA church organization to offer services to farmers in that area of Masai land. Farmers therefore relied fully on his advice and judgement in administering drugs in the right quantity. His carelessness not only caused the centre lower high graded cows but also the farmers and substantial losses. Besides the centre's rules that the vehicles should not be used without authority Mr. Sangale continue to use them without authority and under the influence of alcohol for which he was issued with several warning letters. While this dispute was on suspension the services of Mr. Sangale were later terminated. Since the grounds are the same it is my considered opinion that the suspension and subsequent termination of services were justified.

In view of the facts contained in this dispute I recommend that the management's decision on suspension and termination of Mr. Sangale's services should stand. The Union's demand is rejected."

The Court notes that the Respondents had adopted a completely negative attitude to the Ministry of Labour investigation when the first investigator was looking into this dispute. The Claimants rejected both the findings and the recommendation.

During the hearing the Respondents alleged that Mr. Sankaire had used one of the vehicles for his own purposes without any permission, he could not explain a shortage of K.Sh. 800 from his sales of drugs and third, which by far is the most serious allegation, that due to his negligence the Respondents lost four high grade cows and more than 13 became sick with 38 cows eventually dying. This was because of the outbreak of E.C.F. in the farm which they attributed to Mr. Sankaire's negligence.

The grievant, while giving evidence on oath, denied all these allegations and was dubbed by the Respondents to be a great liar but the Court is not so sure that he was lying. The Court finds it difficult to believe that a person who was only an acting farm manager for a short time could have caused such a big loss to the Respondents in the absence of any conclusive evidence on this point. The Respondents produced no report from the veterinary officer in charge of the area or called any other responsible person to give evidence thereon.

The Respondents called only one witness, Mr. G. W. Mungai, who is the secretary of the Presbyterian Foundation and is also the Respondents' board member. He participated in a meeting held on 4th July, 1977, which looked into this matter and the other two gentlemen who attended the meeting were Mr. Ngunjiri Njiraini and Mr. H. F. Miller. This committee made the following six recommendations:

(1) The committee feel that it is outside the scope to go into the alleged poor relationship before and after the suspension of Sankaire. The merits or demerits of the allegations are administrative matter that can be handled by the management.

(2) We understand individual personnel record are not kept including that of Sankaire. This is a must for an employer of this size.

(3) Three definite cases of mishandling cash entrusted to Sankaire have been dealt with at the Centre. We are surprised that at no time was a firm action taken by the management.

(4) It is wrong to keep an employee suspended indefinitely. The manager ought to have recommended steps to be taken to determine the matter one way or the other. This he has not done yet.

(5) Money belonging to the Centre lost in the hands of Sankaire must be recovered and his services terminated forthwith.

(6) In the absence of the Centre's terms and conditions of employment those applicable to other or similar institutions must apply in order to determine this case."

The Court has very carefully considered this dispute and finds it rather odd that the Respondents did not at any time take the trouble to terminate the services of this employee in writing. He was verbally suspended and although Mr. Mungai's committee of investigation said that his services must be terminated forthwith it appears that again it is alleged that he was told verbally that his services had been terminated. On 7th July, 1978, the new director of the Respondents wrote a letter in which he wrote the following three paragraphs:

"May I please draw your attention to a meeting held at the P.C.E.A. head office on 4th July, 1977, between you, Mr. Mopel and representatives from P.C.E.A. and NCKC regarding your suspension.

In that meeting you were verbally informed that your services were terminated from that day.

It was also resolved that you were to receive two months salaries in lieu of notice. This was amounting to K.Sh. 670. The Centre was to recover K.Sh. 800 from you in relation with sales proceedings lost in your hands."

The Court has very carefully considered the parties submissions and the evidence in respect of suspension thereof and finds that the Respondents have not treated Mr. Sankaire fairly. They kept him in suspense with the result that he had to enlist his trade union's help and then when the Respondents set up an investigation committee where it is alleged his services were verbally terminated the Respondents did not take the trouble of communicating their decision in writing and informing the Claimants as they were actively involved in the matter by that time. The Court has come to the conclusion that Mr. Sankaire has suffered a wrongful dismissal. The Respondents are claiming K.Sh. 800 from him and he in turn is claiming K.Sh. 837/75 from them being the amount he spent on official duty and for which he was entitled to claim refund. The Court has decided to cancel these claims against each other.

The Court awards that the Respondents should pay Mr. Sankaire full salary up to 4th July, 1977, and four months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 58 of 1982

Parties:

Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union
and
NAS Airport Services Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Unreasonable termination of Miss Lucy Njeri's services.

THE Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and NAS Airport Services Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 21st October and 1st November, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants.—Lucy Njeri.

Respondents:

J. S. Nesbitt.

D. K. Ndirangu.

Mrs. W. Shiramba.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 17th February, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 12th July, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute concerns Miss Njeri who claims that she is a Kenya Enrolled Nurse and was wrongfully terminated by the Respondents. She had served them from 1st January, 1979, up to 15th May, 1980, when her services were terminated and she was offered one month's salary in lieu of notice and additional two months' salary as a token. In addition she was offered salary up to 15th May, 1980, and 15 days leave earned in the same year.

The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour who found that she had suffered a wrongful termination and recommended that she be given four months' salary plus other terminal benefits for the wrongful termination. Most surprisingly the Claimants rejected the Ministry's findings and recommendation and the dispute ended up in the Industrial Court.

The Court has been surprised at the Claimants' rejection of the Ministry's findings because Miss Njeri could not, during the hearing, prove that she was a Kenya Enrolled Nurse and the only document in support of her qualification that she produced was a letter from the Registrar of Nurses & Midwives' Council of Kenya that she had obtained a pass at the E.A.N. preliminary examination held in January, 1970. This explains why this lady also started working as a secretary having attended typing and shorthand courses. She obviously is not interested in making nursing her career.

She was referred to the Respondents' medical consultant, Dr. J. S. Nesbitt, by an Assistant Minister who has since died. The Court is satisfied that Miss Njeri misled Dr. Nesbitt about her qualifications and got the job. Dr. Nesbitt while giving evidence said that soon after she took up her appointment she had not lived up to his expectations as he immediately noticed some deficiency in her knowledge of the use of drugs. He tried to advise her and then gave instructions that she should not be left in charge of dangerous drugs whenever the sister in charge was not there.

The Court is satisfied on the evidence of Dr. Nesbitt that Miss Njeri in her employment as an assistant to the sister in charge with the Respondents proved to be dangerous, reckless and a menace. The Court finds that there is no substance in her allegations against the sister in charge, Mrs. Shiramba, that she suffered a wrongful termination because of her clash with her.

The Court is satisfied that the Respondents' personnel manager, Col. D. K. Ndirangu, to whose wife Miss Njeri is related, carried out proper investigation in the matter before a decision was taken to terminate her service.

In view of the surprising attitude adopted by the Claimants in this dispute the Court is not prepared to force the Respondents to pay the four months salary compensation which they had offered on an ex gratia basis and the Court finds that offer has been withdrawn.

The Court has no hesitation in finding that Miss Njeri was not qualified for the job that she took with the Respondents and for which she was employed and it would indeed have been dangerous if her services had not been terminated. The Court upholds the Respondents' action in terminating her services and rejects the Claimants' demand for her reinstatement and compensation. Miss Njeri is advised to go and collect the terminal benefits which the Respondents have offered her in their letter of termination if she has not done so already.

G301221 NOTICE No. 3732

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 67 OF 1982

Parties:

Transport & Allied Workers' Union
and
Car Hire Services Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Joseph Njenga.

THE Transport & Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Car Hire Services Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th October, 1982, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Respondents also called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

1. P. Smith.
C. Wamalwa.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 27th November, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 12th July, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

In this case the Respondents dismissed Mr. Njenga, who used to work for them as a driver, on 8th February, 1982, because of reporting on duty while drunk and his past unsatisfactory performance. He was offered his terminal benefits amounting to K.Sh. 686/25.

The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the investigator found that the Respondents could not prove beyond any reasonable doubt that he had reported on duty while drunk and the Ministry found the dismissal to have been wrongful. It was recommended that he should be paid two months' salary as compensation plus other terminal benefits. The Respondents rejected these findings and recommendation, and the Court may add for good reason, because after hearing this dispute and the evidence given on oath by the Respondents' two witnesses the Court is satisfied that the Claimants are pursuing a lost cause. The Court is surprised that although Mr. Njenga was in Court he was not called to give evidence by the Claimants whereas both the Respondents' witnesses, Mr. Smith and Mr. Wamalwa, clearly stated on oath that on 8th February, 1980, Mr. Njenga reported on duty while drunk. This is indeed a grave misconduct on the part of a taxi driver.

The Court has also carefully perused the warning letters which were issued to Mr. Njenga in the past and is satisfied that they were all valid. It is obvious that the Ministry of Labour investigator mistook himself seriously in this point. Had she not done so it is likely that the dispute would not have come this far.

The Court is surprised that the senior officials in the Ministry who processed the investigator's initial investigation did not spot this vital error on her part.

In this dispute the Court has no hesitation in rejecting the Claimants' demand for Mr. Njenga's reinstatement or compensation because there is not merit in it at all.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 5 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
National Cereals Board

Issue in dispute:

Termination of Samuel Kariuki Gitigi and Hastings Kabutu.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and National Cereals Board shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 11th and 12th May, 8th July and 8th November, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants:

H. J. W. Kabutu,
S. K. Gitigi.

Respondents:

A. Ongaro,
J. Wiswa.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 19th May, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 20th January, 1982, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The two persons involved in this dispute used to work for the Respondents up to 31st December, 1980, and 31st May, 1980, respectively. Mr. Gitigi had served the Respondents for nearly 14 years and Mr. Kabutu for two years.

At the time of grave food shortage in the country in 1980, 720 kg. of maize flour was found in possession of Mr. Gitigi and Mr. Kabutu had in his possession three bales and four packets of wheat flour at a canteen at the railway station which he was running as a side business.

Their termination came about as a result of an operation carried out by the administration of smuggling and hoarding of essential commodities in May, 1980. The District Commissioner, Bungoma, wrote to the Provincial Commissioner, Western Province, on 29th May, 1980, and in paragraphs 3 and 6 of his letter he wrote as follows:

"The operation victims included employees of the National Cereals Board, Myanga Depot, namely Sammy Kariuki, the depot's cashier and Hastings Kabutu. They had 8 bags of maize and 3 bundles, 4 packets of wheat flour respectively.

In view of the foregoing I recommend that the concerned be transferred with immediate effect from the depot or be relieved of their duties altogether on public interest. Perhaps the authorities concerned could decide the best line of action on this particular case and warn the rest of their staff on this shortcoming."

The Respondents paid Mr. Gitigi under normal termination amounting to K.Sh. 11,855.80 and Mr. Kabutu K.Sh. 2,075.90.

The Claimants have alleged wrongful dismissal and are asking for their reinstatement and payment of full salary from the time of their termination up to the reinstatement.

The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 6th April, 1981, in the following terms:

"Both Mr. Kariuki and Mr. Kabutu were terminated because they were carrying out illegal trade of selling maize and wheat flour respectively without trading licence. There is also evidence that the management had issued instructions in view of the maize and wheat shortage at that time its staff must not deal in maize without a licence. The Government was also very much concerned with this kind of transaction. Both Kariuki and Kabutu therefore ignored the instructions that had been issued by the management and also had no regard to the Government concern of maize and wheat transaction.

After careful consideration of both parties submission the action taken by the management against Mr. Kariuki and Mr. Kabutu was justified."

The only worthwhile point that cropped up was that both of them admitted indulging in selling maize to the public and pointed out that the depot manager was aware of what was going on all the time. The Court cannot rule out the possibility that everybody at the Myanga depot was indulging in such nefarious activities during the time of acute shortage of foodstuffs but that does not absolve these two persons from their part in this whole affair. It was indeed up to the administration who had mounted a campaign against the hoarders and the Respondents to have taken such action against their defaulting employees as they deemed fit.

Admittedly the Respondents' personnel manager gave rather a confused account of what transpired before the services of these two employees were terminated as first he stated in evidence that he had called the two grievants to his office in Nairobi and had interviewed them but later in the afternoon he said he had not done so but had asked the area manager to investigate the matter. The Court has carefully considered this discrepancy but has come to the conclusion that this does not in any way alter the state of facts that these two persons were found in possession of foodstuffs which they were selling. The Court is satisfied that there was no bad faith on the part of the Respondents.

After careful consideration of all the submissions put forward by the parties in this dispute the Court has come to the conclusion that these two employees fully merited their termination and the Court must therefore reject the Claimants' demands for their reinstatement and damages which they have made against the Respondents.

Given in Nairobi on the 10th December, 1982.

Judge.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 4006

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 79 OF 1982

Parties:

Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers
and
Regal Garage (1976) Ltd.

Issues in dispute:

Wages,
Wages increase,
House allowance,
Effective date.

THE Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Regal Garage (1976) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 19th November, 1982, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated, 11th December, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 17th August, 1982, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties' collective agreement which is being revised and has given rise to this dispute was effective from 1st August, 1979, for a period of two years.

The Claimants forwarded their proposals to the Respondents on 23rd May, 1981, and the parties met at their own level but could not resolve seven items on which a formal trade dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour. Conciliation proceedings commenced and the parties could not resolve the four issues that are now before the Court.

The Claimants' demands are that the minimum wage should be Sh. 600 p.m. and that the workers should also get a 15 per cent wage increase for the first year and 13 per cent increase for the second year. They also demanded a house allowance of Sh. 125 p.m.

The Claimants, however, dropped their demand during conciliation to 10 per cent increase each year but the Respondents could not move beyond 5 per cent per year. The Respondents made no offer on house allowance.

An interesting development then took place in that the Respondents and the workers got together and along with the shopstewards made an agreement whereby it was agreed that the Respondents would give the workers a 10 per cent increase from 1st January, 1982, and another increase of 7½ with effect from 1st January, 1983. They agreed that the dispute on the house allowance had been cancelled but the leave allowance had been increased from Sh. 70 to Sh. 80 per year.

The Claimants quite rightly were very critical of this move but whereas the Respondents can be blamed for having bypassed the recognized trade union the chief shopsteward must also shoulder the blame equally for having gone ahead and entered into the said agreement without the blessings of his trade union i.e. the Claimants.

The Court notes that the Division of Manpower Planning and Development report shows the present minimum wages and job titles of the various employees to be as follows:

"E. Puento Asst. storekeeper	825
Mwangi Gachuka Panel beating	1,320
Nabude Alega Panel beating	1,100
Dominic Ogala Panel beating	1,100
B. Oduor Panel beating	800
A. Odhiambo Panel beating	900
Uhuru Panel beating	990
Kifuzia Polish boy	700
Kanyi Polish boy	660
Odika Polish boy	630
Raphael Oduor Mechanic	893
Joseph Kuigoi Mechanic	770
David Mukhala Mechanic	811
Silla Nzau Driver	750
Josphat Labourer	506
Ogala Labourer	500
Orukula Labour	530
Mohan Sueh Foreman	3,000"

The Respondents have pleaded that 75 per cent of their work comes through insurance companies but of late their work had gone down because the accident rate had gone down by about 50 per cent. Probably what they meant was that the insurance claims are down by that figure.

The Court has examined the Respondents' bank statement which they forwarded along with their submission showing a bank overdraft running at quite a high figure as at October, 1982. The Court has also taken into consideration that the repair rates charged by the Respondents have not been increased in any way and that whereas in 1979 they had 26 workers they were forced to reduce them to 14 but lately they had increased their workforce to 19. The Respondents' wage bill per month is Sh. 30,000.

The Court cannot allow the workers and the employers to bypass a trade union where they are actively being represented by such trade union and who has on their behalf negotiated a collective agreement and has formulated proposals for revising it.

The D.M.P.D. report shows that the Claimants should be entitled to a compensation of 20.6 per cent and 20 per cent for the lower and middle income groups respectively. On the whole it boils down to an average wage entitlement of 20 per cent for the two year period.

The Court has decided that the Respondents should compensate their employees for the period between 31st July, 1981, the date when the previous collective agreement expired, to 31st December, 1981. The Court awards that the Respondents should give all their employees a 5 per cent wage increase on their salaries as they were on 31st July, 1981. The Court further awards that the Respondents should give a 10 per cent wage increase on 1st January, 1982, to their employees on their salaries as at 31st December, 1981, and finally the Respondents should give another wage increase of 7½ per cent on their salaries as at 31st December, 1982.

In view of the not too bright financial position of the Respondents the Court has decided not to deconsolidate the wages and for the time being the Court rejects the demand for a separate house allowance. The parties will be at liberty to look afresh at this issue on the expiry of the collective agreement on 31st July, 1983.

The Court does not feel that there is any need to make an award on the minimum wage in this dispute as all statutory minimum wages have gone up from 1st August, 1982.

The Court awards that the effective date should be 1st August, 1981, and that it should remain in force for a period of two years from that date.

Given in Nairobi the 8th December, 1982.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 42 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and
American Life Insurance Company

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. B. Hinga.

THE Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and American Life Insurance Co. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 18th and 19th August, and 3rd November, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants.—B. Hinga.

Respondents:

O. O. Wasonga,
Z. J. Muema.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 20th May, 1982, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act which notification the Court received on 24th May, together with the statutory certificates.

Mr. B. Hinga used to work for the Respondents from 1st September, 1973, up to 27th February, 1979. He joined as an accounts clerk and received promotion to the position of supervisor and got certain increments also.

His services were terminated on 27th February, 1979, by which time he was earning K.Sh. 3,600. He was offered one month's salary in lieu of notice and leave pay for leave due plus pension for 1977, 1978 and 1979 less outstanding loan and P.A.Y.E. This left him with an amount of K.Sh. 7,350.10.

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose findings were in favour of Mr. Hinga and it recommended that he should either be taken back by the Respondents or they should pay him ten months' salary as compensation for the wrongful termination plus all other benefits. The Claimants accordingly demanded from the Respondents a sum of K.Sh. 43,200 being K.Sh. 36,000 as ten months' pay and K.Sh. 7,200 representing salary for the balance of notice period as they claimed that he was entitled to three months' notice. The Respondents have vigorously resisted this demand.

During the hearing both the parties admitted that Mr. Hinga is a bright young man and that he got another employment only three months after his termination where he is getting almost double the remuneration that he used to get from the Respondents.

The Respondents have pleaded that Mr. Hinga's services were terminated because of the following reasons:

"(a) Deterioration in his performance.

(b) Assuming a role which was beyond his schedule of responsibilities by divulging company records to third parties without authority.

(c) Intentional lateness.

(d) Gross negligence in failing to process the payment of the Respondents' electricity bills, leading to an eventual disconnection of power supply."

The Court had the benefit of hearing the evidence from the grievant and the Respondents' then general manager, Mr. O. O. Wasonga, and his immediate supervisor, Mr. Z. J. Muema. After a careful evaluation of all the evidence given by these witnesses the Court finds that the allegation of intentional lateness on the part of Mr. Hinga was by no means proved to have been a sufficiently strong ground for terminating his services. There is, however, considerable substance in the other three allegations.

The Court is satisfied on the evidence of Mr. Muema that Mr. Hinga did his work fairly well until 1977. After that he accepted and processed a mortgage application which was contrary to the laid down guidelines in that although he was required to bring all applicants to Mr. Muema he did not do so and authorized an evaluation. Mr. Hinga's explanation was found not to be satisfactory. Mr. Muema also told the Court that information had come to the top-most management that Mr. Hinga was asking for bribes before processing applications and it was for this reason that he was instructed to transfer Mr. Hinga from investment section to expense section where he was responsible for making payments in respect of various bills.

The allegation about Mr. Hinga divulging company records to third parties without authority although could be serious under certain circumstances but in the present case the Court has decided not to place much reliance on it as Mr. Hinga merely informed a third party on the income of their agents which no doubt was required by the agents themselves.

The Court, however, cannot take lightly the negligence displayed by Mr. Hinga in the payment of certain bills which could quite easily injure the creditworthiness of the Respondents and which could create a very poor impression in the minds of their customers; like finding the electricity supply of the Respondents' offices having been cut for non-payment of the electricity bill. The Court fully concurs with the sentiments expressed by the Respondents' spokesman when he said that a policy holder could have asked himself the following question on 25th February, 1979:

"How can an insurance company which cannot meet its bills be able to pay the benefits for which I am covered?"

The Court is satisfied that it was part of Mr. Hinga's duties to make payment for the electricity bill and he neglected to do so with the result that the Respondents' electricity was disconnected and they were required to pay in addition to the Power & Lighting Co. dues a fresh deposit of K. Sh. 1,500 and a reconnection fees of K. Sh. 40. This sort of negligence on the part of an employee entrusted with such responsibility is very serious indeed.

The Court has gone through the documentary evidence regarding the delay in the payment of hotel bills by the Respondents in respect of their visiting dignitaries from overseas which they attributed to the negligence of Mr. Hinga. The payment of the bills had been delayed by about three months. Mr. Hinga explained that the managing director had to approve these claims before he could effect the payments but the Respondents maintained that it was Mr. Hinga's duty to bring these bills to the attention of the managing director to expedite the matter. The Court cannot accept the Claimants' submission that the Respondents have not suffered in any way by this delay. Obviously they have not appreciated the aspect of the loss of credit-worthiness.

The Court cannot in this dispute find that the Respondents have in any way victimized Mr. Hinga or that their decision is perverse or that they are guilty of violating principles of natural justice. The Court has come to the conclusion that Mr. Hinga who is no doubt a bright young man and is now earning much more than what he used to earn with the Respondents lost interest in his work and the Court finds that the Respondents were justified under the circumstances of this dispute to have given him a normal termination. The Court accordingly rejects the Claimants' demand of K.Sh. 43,200 which they have made in this dispute. Mr. Hinga is entitled only to what the Respondents have offered him in the letter of termination dated 27th February, 1979.

Given in Nairobi the 15th December, 1982.

Respondents: P. K. Wambua

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 20th May, 1982, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act which reference the Court received on 24th May together with the relevant statutory certificates.

Mr. B. D. Shah was employed by the respondents as a sales representative in March, 1977, at a monthly salary of K.Sh. 3,500 plus sales commission. He was confirmed on 25th August, 1977, and became a sales supervisor. On 24th April, 1978, his job title was changed to product manager.

His services were terminated on 14th September, 1979, and at the time of termination his salary had risen to K.Sh. 6,900 p.m. The respondents offered to pay him one month's salary in lieu of notice, pay for 14 days worked and pay for 37 days leave earned. His dues under pension scheme were to be processed.

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 13th June, 1980, stating that the Ministry found that the respondents had handled the matter in a fishy way and therefore the termination was not justified. It recommended that he should be paid four months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful termination in addition to his terminal benefits. The respondents rejected both the findings and recommendation and the matter is now before the Court.

The claimants have put forward a demand on Mr. Shah's behalf for a sum of K.Sh. 146,466.20 made up as follows:

	K.Sh.
"Basic salary for days worked in September 15 days at K.Sh. 6,900 p.m. . . .	3,450.00
Commission from 1st August, 1979 to 15th September, 1979 at K.Sh. 5,000 p.m. . . .	7,500.00
Reimbursement of car expenses 1st August, 1979 to 15th September, 1979 at K.Sh. 1,500 p.m.	2,250.00
Reimbursement of other expenses	260.00
Leave accrued 72 days at K.Sh. 13,400 p.m. 3 months pay in lieu of notice at K.Sh. 13,400 p.m.	32,160.00
Pension scheme his own contribution ..	40,200.00
Company's contribution	3,323.10
Interest	3,323.10
Compensation for wrongful termination for 4 months at K.Sh. 13,400 p.m.	400.00
	146,466.20"

The main point in this dispute is the sales system which Mr. Shah had practised during his employment with the respondents which in brief involved the use of the respondents' salesman, vehicle and petrol in selling their manufactured products in the name of other traders in the city. Mr. Shah claimed that this system had the blessings of the former managing director, Ramesh Shah, and that the new managing director and the sales manager had at no time countermanded this system. Therefore he was very surprised that he was accused of indulging in unethical practices and was threatened with police action. He maintained that he had done nothing other than what he had been told to do by the management.

The respondents maintained that the business practice in which Mr. Shah indulged was not in their best interest as in most transactions the two stores, Shah Devraj and Nairobi Stores, did not handle i.e. they did not stock or even receive the products for which they were billed at dealers prices. These customers received:

Material handling; Use and talent of 3M sales representatives; Use of 3M van; Order writing; and Accounting services. Finally they were even hand-carried the products generated by such sales by Mr. Shah.

The Court is intrigued in this dispute because the respondents under threat of handing over the matter to the police asked Mr. Shah to tender his resignation and he in turn asked for a price for his resignation. The Government policy which is directed to passing on the business of distribution and retail trade to the hands of the Kenyans was very much in force at the material time. So obviously the respondents indulged indirectly in retail trade or distribution. It is no doubt because of this that this system of upliftment was devised. The Court cannot rule out the possibility that this enabled a clever person like Mr. Shah to manipulate accounts to his benefit and to the detriment of the respondents. The Court does not intend to go into certain transactions which were mentioned during the hearing as it is quite clear that the respondents made their profit by selling goods from their factory and in order to generate the sale of their products and in expectation of further profits they made available the facilities of their salesman, van etc. the system which Mr. Shah was operating from the time of Ramesh Shah, the then managing director. It is questionable if in fact the respondents were entitled to further profits through trade. They certainly would be entitled to recover the cost of their driver/salesman and other related expenditure van.

The Court has very carefully considered all aspects of this dispute and finds that both the respondents and Mr. Shah were at fault to a certain extent in that the Court cannot believe that the respondents' new management did not know what business practices Mr. Shah was indulging in. They knew about it but they wanted all the profits to go to them. The Court while finding that the respondents may have erred in terminating Mr. Shah's services without clearly ordering him to abstain from indulging in the aforesaid business practice is not inclined to award any heavy compensation as demanded on behalf of Mr. Shah amounting to K.Sh. 146,466.20.

The Court has come to the conclusion that in addition to what the respondents have offered Mr. Shah he should be paid only two months' salary by way of compensation. The Court rejects all the other claims which have been put forward on behalf of Mr. Shah.

Given in Nairobi the 23rd December, 1982.
